ROYAL COUPLE IS WELCOMED BY MONTREAL

ESTIMATED MILLION CHEER FOR KING AND QUEEN

BY FRANK H. KING

Montreal, Que., May 18. (AP)—For ten hours King George and Queen Elizabeth were cheered and feted today by Canada's greatest metropolis.

Determined to outdo Quebec's colorful welcome of yesterday, Montreal massed 1,000,000 cheering and flag-waving people to greet the smiling royal pair.

Ticker tape floating through the air gave a New York touch to their Canadian tour as the parade of royal cars passed the Place d'Armes on their 23-mile route through the city.

Sleeping On Train

Not satisfied with this tumultous greeting, crowds concentrated in Dominion Square outside the Windsor hotel where the king and queen were guests tonight at a civic dinner attended by both houses of the Canadian parliament, civic officials and prominent citizens.

WINDSOR SPENDS $7,500

Windsor, Ont., May 18 (AP)—The city of Windsor will spend $7,500 on decorations in honor of the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. The city board of control voted an appropriation for this amount today. In addition merchants are expected to install street decorations.

Later their majesties slept in their blue and silver train at the little village of Canadonia where their streamlined engine with its gleaming stainless steel was halted for a late morning entry tomorrow into Ottawa, the Canadian capital.

Packed with eager crowds and decorated from the curbstones to the top of every flagpole and building, this great North American city let lose a tumultuous greeting as their majesties arrived on their palatial private train on their cross country tour that will take them 6,000 miles over Canada and the United States.

More School Children

At one great stadium 85,000 French-speaking school children, of the second largest French-speaking city in the world, sang themselves hoarse on "God Save the King."

At another stadium 15,000 English-speaking children paid similar tribute to the king and queen whose dominions include this city, one of the world's greatest inland ports.

It seemed the king and queen probably ha dseen more school children in the past two days than they would have opportunity to see in many a day.

MERIT SYSTEM REVISION BEGINS

Comstock Attends First Session of Enlarged Commission

Lansing, May 18 (AP)—The augmented state civil service commission, meeting for the first time under the revision law, today approved the removal of approximately 324 positions from jurisdiction of the civil service department.

Approximately 300 of the newly exempted posts were in the Michigan unemployment compensation commission. State Treasurer Miller Dunckel obtained the exemption of six employes and Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly of 18. Chairman Edwin A. Donahue said most of the jobs were already exempted under the law.

The commission voted to renew all 90-day temporary appointments which were expiring under the old law.

Warren G. Huff, acting personnel director, was instructed to prepare a list of jobs remaining in the classified service and of those now outside the service and also to prepare a budget for the next fiscal year. Donahue said the $7,500 a year appropriation set by the legislature would not be sufficientin view of the number of re-axaminations which must be given.

William A. Comstock, former governor and Governor Dickinson's recent appointment to the commission, attended his first meeting.

A supplemental civil service, intended to remedy flaws which Governor Dickinson believed existed in the revision bill, was passed by the senate today and sent to the house.

The measure provides specifically for the civil service commission to appoint a personnel director, whose salary would not exceed $5,000 a year. The director would hold office at the pleasure of the commission.

French Flying Boat Completes Atlantic Flight To New York

Port Washington, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—The 42-ton French flying boat Lieutenant De Vaisseau Paris completed another trans-Atlantic experimental flight today, arriving at this seaplane base at 5:47 p. m. (E. S. T.) after a 7-hour hop from Hamilton, Bermuda.

The ship left the new Bicarosse, France, seaplane port Tuesday and stopped enroute at Lisbon, Horta (Azores) and Hamilton.

Air France Trans-Atlantique sent a seaplane on one roundtrip experimental flight last year. Both that trip and the present one are looking toward establishment by the French company of a north Atlantic line for passenger and mail service.

No Party Planned For Quadruplets On Ninth Birthday

Lansing, May 18 (AP)—Mrs. Carl A. Morlok said today the ninth birthday of her quadruplet daughters tomorrow would be just another day. She said she would serve ice cream and cake at dinner, but that there would be no party. The children will open dozens of greeting cards from all over the United States.

The children are Edna A, Wilma B, Sarah C and Helen D. The initials indicate the order in which they were born.

BATTLES RAGE IN JERUSALEM CITY STREETS

OVER 100 JEWISH BOYS HURT IN RIOTING

Jerusalem, May 18 (AP)—More than 100 casualties were suffered tonight in terrific battles in the streets of Jerusalem between police and Jewish youths demonstrating against Britain's new policy of an independent Arab-controlled Palestine.

At least 100 Jewish youths, most of them between the ages of 10 and 16, were injured.

Police suffered several casualties, and at least two of them were injured severely by revolver shots.

After the Jews had made an orderly demonstration march through the central streets of the city, some 5,000 Jewish youths assembled in the early afternoon in front of the district commissioner's office to carry on their protest against Britain's policy.

Policemen Stoned

Booing police and throwing stones, they drew a baton charge by police. The crowd recoiled somewhat, then pressed forward, hurling stones.

The police were forced to give way in order to allow time to receive reinforcements.

Then wave after wave of police charged down Jaffa road with batons swinging here and there.

The Jewish youth, refusing to give way, replied with stones or any objects they could seize.

For three hours the battle continued without a let-up.

Then the police finally got the upper hand and broke the resistance.

By 9:30 p. m. more than 100 Jewish injured had been counted. Many of the injuries were serious.

Police fired shots over the heads of the rioters during the battle in an effort to disperse them.

In similar demonstrations at the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv at least 40 persons received first aid hospital treatment in a number of clashes between Jewish youths and police.

In the Jerusalem disorders an official of the Czecho-Slovak consulate was wounded seriously when he was attacked and stoned by a mob as he drove in his automobile near the district commissioner's office.

British police reported two of their number were wounded by shots fired from revolvers in the fighting there.

Many shop windows were broken by the flying stones.

The fighting climaxed a day which witnessed 175,000 Jews marching, singing, shouting and carrying placards protesting the plan to put Palestine under Arab control and end the Jewish dream of a "national home" in the Holy Land.

Many of them signed mobilization registration forms "for whatever action is ordered us."

Special registration stations were opened throughout the Holy Land for all ablebodied Jewish men and women between 18 and 35 years but Jewish leaders declined to discuss the potentialities of the registration.

MARTIN'S UNION VOTING ON AFL

Referendum Poll Starts Monday In Split Up Faction of UAW

Detroit, May 18. (AP) — Homer Martin, president of the Independent United Automobile Workers, announced today that his union will start on Monday, May 22, a referendum vote on affiliation with the American Federation of Labor. The Martin group split this spring from the CIO-affiliated UAW.

Martin said the poll will be completed May 27 and that a "final count" will be made at union headquarters here by a committee selected by the Independent UAW executive board.

The board in a resolution urged approval of the affiliation as "an important step in unifying the forces of labor in this country."

The UAW formerly was affiliated with the AFL, but split away from it in 1936 and joined the CIO.

R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO division of the UAW, claiming his group has a large majority of the organized auto workers, said the referendum "has no significance * * * except as it indicates Martin's readiness to sell his nuisance value to the very forces which for years tried to throttle unionism in the industry."

Charges Dismissed Against Blackshirt Groups In Detroit

Detroit, May 18 (AP)—The last cases involving members of the Black Legion, night-riding terrorists whose criminal activity was disclosed and smashed in 1936, were removed from Michigan court dockets today with dismissal of charges against 21 persons.

Most prominent of those to go free is Virgil F. (Bert) Effinger, portly Lima, O., electrical contractor once named by investigators as national commander and "major general" of the Black Legion.

Effinger evaded for nearly two years attempts to extradite him from Ohio to Michigan where a one-man grand jury charged that he and others plotted armed overthrow of the government. This was the charge dismissed today. Recently another charge, possession of bombs, was dropped.

Witnesses Unavailable

Robert L. Arnold, assistant attorney general of Michigan, said essential witnesses had left the state or refused to testify, and that a recent supreme court ruling had cast doubt on the validity of Michigan's criminal syndicalism under which Effinger was indicted.

On Arnold's motion, the criminal syndicalism charges against 21 persons, and three other Black Legion cases pending in the Wayne county circuit court, two of conspiracy to kill and one of felonious assault, were dropped.

Among those freed of all charges as a result of his action, are N. Ray Markland, former mayor of Highland Park, Detroit suburb, three Highland Park firemen and one policeman.

Since May, 1936, when WPA worker Charles A. Poole was "executed" by hooded terrorists who believed false neighborhood gossip that he beat his wife, fourteen Black Legion members have been convicted of murder, and more than a score have been sentenced for floggings, arson and inciting to riot. Eight received life terms for the fatal shooting of Poole; five for the "thrill slaying" of a negro, shot down for "target practice" during a Black Legion week end at a Michigan lake.

FELONIES LAID TO BUND CHIEF

Fritz Kuhn to Appear Before Grand Jury for Tax Evasion

New York, May 18 (AP)—A subpoena was served on German-American Bund Leader Fritz Kuhn today, ordering him to appear before the grand jury Monday, as District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey announced a two-ply investigation of alleged Bund sales tax evasion and "alleged substantial felonies."

Remarking "there was no need to serve a subpoena on me," the big impassive Bund leader said he would appear and would waive immunity.

Replying to a suggestion from Mayor LaGuardia that he take "prosecutive action" against Fritz Kuhn, the National Bund leader, seven of his associates and four corporations affiliated with the Bund for a series of alleged violations of and delinquencies under the city sales tax laws, Dewey wrote:

"Dear Fiorello: I have your letter of May 17, enclosing the report of the (city) commissioner of investigation, suggesting that certain misdemeanors have been committed by the German-American Bund and related corporations and individuals * * *. It is also suggested that the books of the Bund might be examined.

"Books of the German-American Bund and related corporations were subpoenaed by my office on May 2 and have been in process of examination since that date. This was in the course of an investigation of certain alleged substantial felonies which my office has been conducting for the past several weeks.

"Accordingly, I have directed that the alleged misdemeanors be also presented to the grand jury, in conjunction with the major investigation now in progress."

Dewey did not describe the "alleged substantial felonies."

Dickinson Praises House Budget Bill

Lansing, May 18 (AP)—Governor Dickinson sent congratulations to the house of representatives today for "passing a balanced budget."

"I consider it one of the major obligations of this administration to see that legislative appropriations for the ensuing biennium shall not exceed a fair estimate of our anticipated revenues," his formal message read.

COUNTIES MAY CONTROL ALL RELIEF FUNDS

SUPVERVISORS GIVEN WELFARE WORK BY HOUSE BILL

Lansing, May 18 (AP) — The house of representatives voted today to turn control of welfare expenditures "back to the counties," adopting the senate welfare reorganization bill in radically amended form. The vote was 68 to 19.

The lawmakers rejected the senate's plan to establish a dual welfare system—one branch of which would administer state funds, the other branch to handle money from federal sources—and "went down the line" for a single administration, with boards of supervisors in active control.

Would Combine Agencies

The measure now goes back to the senate for concurrence in or rejection of the 250 house amendments, with legislative leaders predicting the bill ultimately would have to go through a conference fight between the house and senate.

It would create a state department of social welfare to take over duties now performed by a multiplicity of welfare agencies. The emergency relief commission, state welfare department, old age assistance bureau and other benevolent state agencies would go out of existence July 1, the start of the fiscal year.

To administer the program in the counties, the measure would set up three member county social welfare boards, its members to be appointed by and serve at the pleasure of their respective boards of supervisors. The supervisors also would have authority to pass on the qualifications of any employe of the county board, and to fix the salaries of board members and employers.

The so-called supervisors' bloc beat down resistance to the plan. Rep. F. Jack Neller, Republican, Battle Creek, had charged, "This looks to me like an attempt to build a political machine at the expense of those on relief."

No Poor Department

At attempt by Rep. George N. Higgins, Republican, Ferndale, to preserve the dual set-up the senate proposed collapsed quickly. Higgins denied charges from the floor by Rep. Charles F. Sundstrom, Democrat, Marquette, that he was trying to kill the bill.

The house struck out a senate proposal that would have permitted the state to take a lien upon the property of any welfare beneficiary or immediate relative of a welfare client. It accepted a proposal, however, that old age assistance applicants who owned property valued at more than $2,500 be permitted to assign their property rights to the state in order to become eligible.

Rep. Elton R. Eaton, Republican, Plymouth, who piloted the bill through the house, said an amendment attached by the supervisors' bloc to perpetuate the

FRAUD AGAINST STATE ALLEGED

Detroit Democrat Asks Inquiry On Spending Public Funds

Lansing, Mich., May 18 (AP)—Rep. John F. Hamilton, Democrat, Detroit, asked Governor Dickinson tonight to set wheels in motion for a grand jury investigation of the expenditude of public funds, charging he had evidence of practices that amounted to "conspiracy to defraud."

Hamilton filed a minority report as a member of the house committee investigating commissions received by Frank D. McKay, former state treasurer, in connection with the financing of the Blue Water international bridge at Port Huron.

Rep. Nelson A. Miles, Republican, Holland, and Rep. F. Jack Neller, Republican, Battle Creek, the other members of the committee, said Hamilton spoke for himself and that his statement did not represent their views. They planned to submit a joint majority report tomorrow.

Hamilton's report mentioned no name, but declared:

"This committee definitely feels certain offenses have been committed against the state of Michigan and that certain practices have been carried on in the financing of public buildings, public projects, sale of bonds and letting of contracts, and in the expenditure of public monies which amount to conspiracy to defraud and fraud against the people of the state of Michigan."

He recommended that the legislature enact a bill now pending in the senate that would create the office of special state prosecutor, urging that Governor Dickinson then make the appointment and instruct the new official to petition for a grand jury inquiry.

THIRD BODY IN RIVER

Vandenberg Presidential Boom Begins In Lansing

Lansing, May 18 (AP)—Elective state officials, led by Governor Luren D. Dickinson, launched a boom today to "draft" United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids as the Republican presidential nominee in 1940.

The group released a message addressed "to the Republicans of the United States" which declared:

"We, the undersigned, representing official Republicanism in Michigan, present our greetings to Republicans in other states and commend to their 1940 attention our united and unanimous belief that Michigan's senior senator, Arthur H. Vandenberg, should be drafted for the next Republican presidential nomination."

The document, which is to be given nation-wide circulation, was signed by Governor Dickinson, Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly, Attorney General Thomas Read, State Treasurer Miller Dunckel, Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, Senator Felix H. H. Flynn, president protem of the state senate, and Howard Nugent, speaker of the house of representatives.

"It is my hope," the governor said, that his first formal expression of opinion on the part of elected representatives of the Republican party of Michigan will win the hearty endorsement of Michigan citizens in general, without regards to party lines.

"Our experience is that the hardships imposed by the spendthrift policies of the new deal strike with equal force at citizens of all classes and all parties. Senator Vandenberg has shown us that he understands what we are up against, and that he knows what must be done to put the country back on its feet."

Dickinson said the boom was touched off without Vandenberg's knowledge. It was understood the idea originated with Howard C. Lawrence, former state treasurer.

Political circles in the capitol considered the statement significant in view of the rising political star of Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, who is a native of Owosso.

'Death-Kiss Woman' Newest Suspect In Insurance Murders

Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—A long-sought widow police know as "Rose of Death" was jerked to the center of the stage tonight in Philadelphia's drama of wholesale murder for insurance.

In the wings, police held more than 20 additional suspects and an alleged extortioner. Prosecutors drew up charges against all and announced that group arraignment would begin next Tuesday, with the first trial a week later. They expected several guilty pleas.

The cast of characters in this bizarre real-life performance was enlarged with the arrest in New York of Rose Carina, 45, whom investigators nick-named the "death-kiss woman" in the months they sought her.

Agents of the federal bureau of investigation roused the household of Antonio Mastro, Greenwich Village barber, shortly after dawn today and took Mrs. Carina and Mastro into custody. Both were brought to Philadelphia.

Had Five Husbands

Mastro was booked as a material witness by federal agents, but a warrant issued by Judge Harry S. McDevitt charged him with aiding Mrs. Carina to escape from a Lakewood, N. J., hideout after she had been named in a murder warrant.

Mrs. Carina, her 11-year-old daughter, Rita, and Mastro, were brought to the city by automobile. Shortly after their arrival federal agents turned them over to city police. The girl was placed in the care of a Catholic welfare home.

Mrs. Carina is charged specifically with the poison death of Pietro Stea, a grocer, who was her common-law husband. She had five husbands, the first when she was 19. Three died under what detectives say were suspicious circumstances.

Originally named as a ringleader who lured men to death for dollars, Mrs. Carina now is described by Assistant Attorney Vincent P. McDevitt as "just a cog in the wheels" of the plot that spread over at least four eastern seaboard states and took 50 to 100 lives.

"PUG" DICKSON DIES AT DAWN

Convicted Slayer Orders Chicken And Steak for Final Supper

Tucker Prison Farm, Ark., May 18. (AP)—Alfred "Pug" Dickson of Hot Springs, sentenced to death for the robbery-slaying of Eldon Cooley, chain grocery official, ordered a special supper of chicken and steak tonight as he prepared to die in the electric chair at dawn tomorrow.

He apparently lost his last chance of a reprieve when Gov. Carl E. Bailey said today he would not interfere with the execution unless something "extraordinary" happened.

Dickson's relatives paid their farewell visit to him yesterday.

Attorneys for Dickson announced yesterday he had been subpoenaed as a defense witness in the third trial of Mrs. Lucille Anderson, accused of participation in the Cooley killing. Prison officials said, however, no subpoena had been served, or notice given one had been issued.

Clarence "Bill" Johnson, convicted with Dickson in the Cooley case, was given a stay of execution until June 23 to enable him to testify for the state against Mrs. Anderson. Mrs. Anderson's husband, Joseph "Smokey Joe" Anderson, was executed for the killing last March. She originally was sentenced to death, but the supreme court reversed her conviction and awarded her a new trial. The second trial ended in a hung jury and her third trial has been set for June 19.

Pittsburgh Foundry Has $1,250,000 Fire

Pittsburgh, May 18 (AP) — A four-alarm fire swept through the Pittsburgh Gray-Steel Foundry company tonight and caused damage estimated by General Manager R. F. Holtz at $1,250,000.

Firemen sprayed water for more than two hours before they were able to check the flames which left the sprawling northside structure a twisted skeleton of corrugated steel.

WIDOW GETS $8,750

Lansing, May 18 (AP)—The house of representatives adopted and sent to the governor tonight a bill awarding Mrs. Queena Fitzgerald, widow of the late governor, the salary he would have received had he lived through his term of office. The measure, previously adopted by the senate, grants her $8,750.

SNIPERS FIRE AT SOLDIERS; NONE INJURED

FEDERAL MEDIATORS TO ENTER HARLAN MINE DISPUTE

Harlan, Ky., May 18 (AP)—A federal labor conciliator arrived on the troubled Harlan scene tonight after a day of tension marked by an exchange of gunfire between national guardsmen and an ambushed and the "sniping" of guardsmen from a mountainside.

John Conner, the labor department representative, told newsmen "we have every hope of settling" the deadlock between coal operators and the United Mine Workers of America (CIO) over the signing of a "union shop" contract.

Talks With Governor

En route to Harlan from Washington, Conner conferred at Frankfort with Gov. A. B. Chandler, who ordered troopers into the Harlan area last weekend to "protect anybody who wants to go to work." Conner was accompanied by Emmett Durrett, Kentucky labor conciliator.

Harlan county is the last large producing area holding out against the union's demands, to which 15 to 21 groups agreed last Saturday at New York. Most Harlan mines reopened this week after the arrival of national guardsmen.

Conner said he would try tomorrow to arrange conferences with operator and union groups preliminary to possible joint conferences.

Shots Returned

The presence of snipers, on the mountainside near the Harlan central mine at Totz, who fired about 10 shots as workers started to the pits also was reported. Troops did not return the fire on this occasion.

None was hurt in either shooting.

Brigadier General Ellerbe Carter, commanding the Harlan troops, who said he would investigate both gunfire incidents, had the following report of the ambush firing:

Six miners ascending by cable car to the pit head of Highsplint mine No. 2, about 20 miles northwest of Harlan, were fired upon from a wooded hillside about 5:30 a. m. Four guardsmen, stationed at the mine, returned the fire. Their shots were answered. Several rounds were exchanged and the soldiers charged but found nothing except empty buckshot shells.

Pickets Limited

General Carter said at a press conference late today if there was "any more sniping" the soldiers had orders to "spray the mountainsides with machine-gun and rifle fire."

He said his order limiting the number of pickets to 20 "sets the precedent whenever there is trouble," but that the number might be increased if picketing was peaceful.

"Today is the first time that the men could go back to work with any degree of safety," the commander said. "To those who have gone back I take off my hat to their courage. I doubt if I could have done it."

The general said the U. M. W. must "have a permit from me" before it could hold a union mass meeting called for Sunday near here.

While the tension here increased, federal and state mediators, after a conference in Frankfort, hurried to Harlan to make an effort to settle differences between the operators and the union. Harlan is the largest bituminous field holding out against the union shop.

SPOILS SYSTEM IS DISASTROUS

Must Be Abolished for Democracy's Sake, Dean Declares

New York, May 18. — Unless political parties clean house by eliminating the spoils system, they may sound the doom of democracy, W. E. Mosher, dean of the Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs of Syracuse University warns in a report to the National Municipal League.

"The generation in their twenties" must be stimulated to "become party politicians by avocation" in order to avoid disaster, Mr. Mosher asserts. "In literally hundreds of municipalities and states the machinery of carrying on the day-by-day business of governmental units is but an adjunct to the party in control," he charges. "Impartial administration in the interest of all citizens concerned is something to be longed for but never realized in such communities."

"Our citizenry which customarily leaves politics to the politicians is paying a staggering price for its apathy."

Likened to Greeks

Likening citizens to a Greek chorus whose choice at the polls was limited to saying yes or no, Dean Mosher comments that citizens must "content themselves with only the most obvious and harmless comment."

He charges that school teachers dare not tell the pupils the truth about local political bosses, and claims that government "which ought to be the best taught and most exciting subject in any school, is generally the worst taught," with the result that "our young people are positively conditioned to became poor democrats by the combined influence of the schools, the newspapers and magazines they read, and their home and other contacts."

Mosher's report will appear in the May issue of the National Municipal Review.

ROYAL COUPLE IS WELCOMED BY MONTREAL

they began their month tour, they were greeted by 35,000 children singing in French and English.

At another point on the royal route that was pursued as soon as their mejesties arrived, Canadian Indians in full-feathered regalia saluted their monarch with arms extended to their great white father from over the seas.

Ottawa Next

In ordinary workaday life, many of these Montreal Indians, the Caughnawagas, are steel workers, who fnid employment on bridges and skyscrapers the world over.

King George and Queen Elizabeth came to this city of skyscrapers, with picturesque Mount Royal in the background, for ten crowded hours before moving on toward the Canadian capital, Ottawa, tonight.

Later they slept, unannounced, in the village of Canadonia 40 miles this side of Ottawa.

There, their 12-car royal train of blue and silver with the streamlined engine—much of it gleaming stainless steel—halted for a late morning entry into the Dominion administrative center.

The king and queen arrived not in the heart of Montreal, at Great Windsor station, but in an outlying suburb where thousands of Canadians had an open view of the ceremonial of the meeting of royalty and officialdom. The same sort of ceremony will be enacted at 50 places across the Dominion, to the Pacific and back again.

Carpet Sent Ahead

As the royal train halted within an inch of the red carpet, which is sent ahead from station to station, cannons boomed the 21-gun royal salute.

Then the visitors entered the royal automobiles, also sent ahead last night from Quebec. Sitting side by side in an open car they began the 23-mile tour of the city and surveyed probably the greatest throng they will see in Canada.

War veterans were massed at points of vantage, children were arranged in roped arenas—some of them tagged for the convenience of their parents in finding them later—and the run of humanity filled windows, tree tops, belfries, and crowded lines of police into the street.

The hollow square at the station plaza was splashed with units of red coated troops. Bands were playing.

Queen Elizabeth, fresh and smiling, was just inside the door of the observation car platform when the train stopped. Dressed in a robin's egg blue costume with cloak and hat to match, gray slippers over a darker shade of sheer stockings, a double strand of pearls and white fox fur piece, she revealed the third costume of her North American tour.

Not Tired Yet

She showed no indication of fatigue after yesterday's strenuous program at Quebec, nor did the king who stood just behind her in the undress uniform of a British admiral. He wore a white duck cap, like a yachting cap, instead of the full dress gold braided headpiece in which he came ashore from the Empress of Australia.

Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal, wearing the heavy gold chain of his office around his neck, stepped forward and shook hands with the king, and presented his wife who curtsied low.

Then the queen stepped forward to meet the first citizens of Montreal.

Cannons were booming, and "God Save the King" from the regimental band of the Canadian Hussars brought every person within sight and sound to stiff attention.

Smartly the king strode in company of Capt. S. S. T. Cantiel, of the Canadian Black Watch, and Capt. J. A. Leclair, of the Fusiliers, for the guard inspection.

Behind the troops, in an open field, the people cheered, raising a new whoop each time the king's slim figure emerged at the end of a company front.

A few moments later, when Capt. Cantile was presented to Queen Elizabeth, she talked to him several minutes about the kilted troop of men who stood tall and rugged like the Black Watch regiment of her native Scotland. Queen Elizabeth is an honorary colonel of the Canadian Black Watch.

The king and queen left Quebec at 8:32 a. m., EST, this morning, and with but one 17-minute stop at Three Rivers, arrived here at 1:15 p. m.

Fifty thousand people jammed the station and vicinity at Three Rivers to cheer an dwatch the mayor and local councillors be presented.

There were throngs at other towns and villages near Montreal.

U. S. SCHEDULE CROWDED

Washington, May 18 (AP)—American communities still cherishing the hope that the king and queen of England may find time to make them a side visit while in the United States might just as well abandon it.

Not a spare minute is left for the royal pair on the detailed program of their visit released today by the state department. Where they will go and what they will see has been worked out in such detail that it took the department nine closely-typed pages to list the itinerary.

And the minutes have been so carefully allotted that, to meet their engagements, the king and queen will have to keep exactly to schedule from the time they cross the border at 9:35 p. m., June 7, until they leave Hyde Park, N. Y., at 11 p. m., June 11, to return to Canada.

The committee which will go to the border to meet the royal visitors will be headed by Secretary Hull and Mrs. Hull, along with the British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay. It will be composed of state department and British embassy officials and the high army and navy officials President Roosevelt has named as military and naval aides to the king—Major General Hugh A. Drum and Rear Admiral James O. Richardson.

Sir Ronald said in a press conference today that the sole political purpose of the king's visit to the United States was to improve the friendly ties between the two countries.

The king and queen arrive in Washington at 11 a. m. Thursday, June 8 and into a stay of two days and one night here will compress:

The greeting at Union station by President and Mrs. Roosevelt and an official reception committee; a luncheon at the White House; sightseeing in Washington; a garden party at the British embassy; a state dinner at the White House, followed by a reception and musicale; a reception at the British embassy for members of the British colony; a visit to the capitol; a visit to the Washington navy yard; a trip to Mt. Vernon aboard the presidential yacht Potomac to lay a wreath at Washington's Tomb; a visit to the C.C.C. camp at Fort Hunt, Va.; laying a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Arlington, Va.; tea at the White House; and dinner at the British embassy for the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

From here they will go by train to Red Bank, N. J., then by automobile to Ft. Hancock, Sandy Hook, where they will embark on a destroyer and proceed with naval escort up the bay to the Battery, New York City. Governor Lehman and Mayor LaGuardia will welcome them. Afterwards they will drive through New York City to the World's Fair where they will have luncheon and visit the Canadian, Irish and British pavilions. Later in the afternoon they are to visit Columbia university and then drive to Hyde Park, arriving at 6:15 p. m.

They will spend the night and the next day, Sunday, at Hyde Park and leave at 11 o'clock that night by train for Canada, crossing the border during the night.

DIONNES TAUGHT BOWS

Callander, Ont., May 18 (Canadian Press)—The Dionne quintuplets have been taught to bow, but that is the only special training they will receive for their presentation to the king and queen in Toronto next Monday.

The quints are not being loaded with instructions on what to do and say to their majesties, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe said today. Too much training might make them self-conscious.

They have come to believe they know the king and queen through a large photograph of the royal couple that is in their home, so there is little fear among their teachers that they will be flustered.

"I'll bet all royal dignity is forgotten when the king and queen see the babies," Dr. Dafoe said.

ADJOURNMENT THURSDAY

Lansing, May 18 (AP)—The senate adopted, by a vote of 16 to 6, a resolution tonight setting next Thursday as date for adjournment. The resolution, which originated in the senate, originally bore adjournment date of May 11, but was amended in the house to give the legislature more time in which to wind up its affairs.

The action came after a caucus of senate Republicans. Administration leaders from Governor Dickinson down had been urging adjournment for not later than next week.

REGISTRY FOR SALESMEN

Close Check Made On Food In Spain

Madrid, May 18 (AP)—The Spanish government tonight began rigid enforcement of a new food rationing system throughout Spain.

Food cards were distributed to every family, specifying the amount of meats and vegetables they may buy, how often purchases may be made and where foodstuffs may be obtained.

The new system was announced yesterday in the state gazette and government authorities expected it would be only a temporary measure.

It was aimed chiefly at hoarding and profiteering.

Lansing, May 18 (AP)—Governor Dickinson today signed the Hammond bill which authorizes insurance companies to insure against injury or death of the driver, glass breakage and burglary in connection with other automobile accident policies.

COUNTY BUYS BULLS

Menominee—Twenty-three Menominee county farmers have received purebred Holstein and Guernsey bulls, that were purchased for them from Fond du Lac county, Wisconsin, breeders.

These bulls were purchased for individual farmers, on personal notes which they gave to Menominee county banks, the notes to mature in three years, when it is expected that the increase in meat value of the animal will be sufficient to retire the loan.

This plan was decided upon after it became impossible to secure additional funds for the Menominee County Bull Association to purchase bulls.

labor department concilator, reached Frankfort from Washingtodn early in the day and shortly afterward was conferring with Governor A. B. Chandler and industrial relations commissioner William C. Burrow. Emmett Durnett, state conciliator, was assigned to accompany Conner to Harlan.

After a delegation of 43 miners appeared before General Carter and asked protection from "threatening" pickets, seven men were arrested and brought to military headquarters on affidavits of the group.

The group asking "protection" told the general:

"Us fellows have families to feed and we want to go back to work but pickets are threatening us and saying they would beat hell out of us if we went to work.

"They have threatened to dynamite our homes and we were shot at near a mine tipple as we started to work today."

After the seven arrested men were brought in none could identify any of them and they were released.

Dynamite figured in the day's disorders. W. E. Arnold, Harlan Kentucky Utilities, Inc., manager, said a 20-minute electric power failure affecting half the county was caused by the dynamiting of a power pole in a mountainous region near Benham.

Harlan experienced another brief power failure tonight. The cause was not determined at once but power company officials said the shutoff had been traced to the Benham vicinity.

General Carter made further preparations for the rapid dispatch of troops to trouble zones by establishing a "flying squadron" of about 200 men, armed with tear gas, machine guns, rifles, pistols, etc., stationed at headquarters for emergencies.

The squadron had high-powered trucks at its disposal and could move into any part of the county within a short time.

The general sent out a request to the adjutant general to send a hospital unit. There are about 1,250 troops on duty now with 1,100 more—the remaining of the state's troops strength—held in readiness to come here. First troops were sent in Sunday.

Washington, May 18 (AP)—A bill authorizing river and harbor projects throughout the country at a cost of $83,728,100 received the approval of the house today and was sent to the senate.

Economy-minded members previously had struck from the measure two proposals endorsed by the rivers and harbors committee: A $23,700,000 dam at Umatilla rapids on the Columbia river and $12,500,000 for starting a waterway linking the Tennessee and Tombigbee rivers.

Otherwise, except for a few minor amendments, the house followed closely the committee's recommendations. The changes approved included the revocation of authority to the commissioners of Lincoln Park, Chicago, to exercise jurisdiction over certain lake front facilities.

LAKE SHIPPING IS DESCRIBED

Monitor Magazine Carries Interesting Story About Shipping

"Seas Without Barnacles," a vivid story of the familiar Great Lakes, appears in the May 13 issue of the Christian Science Monitor magazine. It was written by Robert W. Desmond.

"The time now has come once again when strollers beside Lake Michigan or Lake Erie may watch the lights of some vessel passing a mile or more offshore," Desmond writes. General traffic of the Great Lakes was delayed about six weeks longer this year due to ice remaining in the upper St. Lawrence river and at Sault Ste. Marie.

"Nine months, from April to late November, ships can pass through the waters of the five Great Lakes, and it is interesting to note that any ship can sail 1,000 miles through open lakes, beyond sight of land. The lakes look for more foreign vessels this year to pass through their connecting waterways, locks, and canals. During recent years ships have been seen to fly flags of Great Britain, the Netherlands, Germany, Russia, Norway and Sweden. The Union Jack is often seen flying, as they mean the ship is sailing under Canadian registry, but the most common is the United States stars and stripes.

"Although the lakes attract much salt-water traffic, the main shipments are things well known to us. Fresh-water traffic includes such articles as potash for fertilizer, barbed wire and nails, laboratory equipment, hides, hair, frozen beef, lard, fertilizer, grain and some manufactured goods produced near the lakes, ore, coal and other cargoes.

"History states that from 1797, the time President Washington retired from office, the first ship built for service on the lakes was constructed at Erie, Penna., and from that time the traffic has increased. In 1816 the first steam-powered vessel for the lake service was constructed at Oswego, on Lake Ontario. As traffic increased and the need for more facilities became apparent, harbors were improved, canals built, rivers dredged out, and locks were built. From figures recorded in 1935, there were well over 2,000 vessels of all types, totalling more than 2,000,000 tons, travelling the Great Lakes.

"Freighters carrying miscellaneous general freight, the package freighters, are somewhat smaller than the bulk freighters. Mr. Desmond points out that several of the bulk freighters have been converted into carrying new, uncrated automobiles, through installing ramps on the docks at Detroit, and other cities. The sidewheelers that are seen plying the lakes are the passenger ships, another important type of lakes ship. The largest of the passenger vessels are the Greater Buffalo, and the Greater Detroit which was in Escanaba some years ago. Summer cruises are offered by such companies as the Chicago, Duluth, and Georgian Bay Transit company, and the Canada Steamship Lines. Another is the Kirby Line, running what it calls the Isle Royale Route, a summer cruise of the lakes. A number of other lines offer cruises across Lake Michigan, between cities as Grand Haven and Muskegon, and Chicago and Milwaukee."

Mr. Desmond puts in his description of familiar Mackinac Island as "a fresh-water edition of Bermuda." In 1935 facts show that 10,000,000 left the shore, including passengers or excursionists and the regular ferry-boat passengers.

A water surface of 95,000 square miles, a shoreline of 8,300 miles, and about 100 harbors, describe the outstanding physical make-up of the famous Great Lakes. "About all they lack is the tangy smell of the salt sea!"

City Council Adopts Budget Of $325,482

Estimates $120,000 Will Be Raised By Local Tax Levy

The Escanaba city budget, providing for total expenditures of $325,482 during the 1939-40 fiscal year, a decrease of $19,518 from last year's figure, was approved after its first reading at the council meeting last evening.

The sum estimated to be raised by taxation is $120,000. Estimated revenues from the 4 municipal utilities total $127,784.24. Other major revenue items are fixed at $28,000 from the Horton Act Fund, $10,000 from liquor licenses, and the balance to make up the total estimate of $325,482 to be derived from miscellaneous sources.

Perusal of the budget reveals that additional street light is contemplated this year, the figure for this item in the general fund having been increased from $10,000 last year to $11,200 for the ensuing year.

Health Fund Increased

The engineering fund is reduced from $7,560 to $5,460, mainly due to the fact that last year there was an extraordinary expense item of $2,000 for a water plant survey, which has been completed.

The health fund is increased by $2,000, the amount estimated to be necessary for paying the salary and expenses of a nurse added to the staff of the Delta County Health Unit.

Although it is contemplated to purchase a new car for the fire chief, a sizeable reduction in the "new equipment" item in the fire fund appears in the budget. Because of the purchase of a new fire truck the equipment item was estimated at $7,000 last year, and is cut down to $1,380 this year.

The sum of $4,340 is set aside in the sewage disposal fund for new equipment as compared to $1,072, because of the plans to buy a gas engine and generator and other equipment to increase the efficiency of the disposal plant.

The sum of $120,000 to be raised by a tax levy is the same as the previous year's figure, when the tax rate was $14,89 per $1,000, based on a total assessed valuation of city property of $8,125,856.24. What the total valuation will be this year will be known after the board of review completes its work.

The tax assessment distribution has been outlined in the budget as follows: General city purposes, $89,375; interest and sinking fund, $21,625; band tax, $2,000; and garbage tax, $7,000; total, $120,000.

City Manager's Statement

Commenting on the new budget, City Manager George E. Bean submitted the following statement to the city council:

"You will note that the 1939-40 budget is considered lower than the budget of last year. This reduction was necessitated by the reduction in available revenues. Chief among these will be lower revenues from delinquent taxes and interest, lower net revenues from the utilities due to a proposed rate reduction and new street lighting equipment, and a slight decrease in estimated police department revenues and state aid. These reductions have been distributed through the budget but are chiefly accounted for in a reduction in the engineering fund and in equipment in the public works and fire funds. There is also a material reduction in the amount of money available for general contingencies.

"It is difficult to judge at this time the demands which will be placed upon the city during the next year for work relief because federal policies are not fully established. The general tendency appears to be to thrust greater financial responsibility on the local community and thus raise the local cost for work relief projects. The projects listed and included with this budget have not all been approved and are therefore subject to revision from time to time as the council desires. The paving program for this year is a little larger than was expected. This tends to give less flexibility to the contingent fund.

"Future federal and state aid funds can be used to better advantage if long range planning is considered. A start has been made in parks and playground facilities and in the utilities. There is need for more study in coordination of city functions affecting city buildings and fire and police expenditures. An appraisal of all physical property owned by the city should be made for the city's protection in insurance matters. However, the sum necessary for this is not included in this budget and can be voted by the council only if additional funds are available. In order to approach the future discussions of city salaries intelligently and to gain a better view of the relation of city salaries to salaries paid for similar work throughout the city, and to properly classify the work of each employee, a special study should be made. This study should be a step toward basic civil service procedure.

"The in-service training authorized by the council as affecting the police department and now being carried on should be extended to the fire department and other departments as needed.

"The city utilities have shown a normal and healthy growth throughout the past year. A continuation of the policy already established by the council of giving all normal increases in revenue back to the customers in lower rates has brought about a steady increase of all utility service. Included in the budget for the electric department is an expenditure for new lighting fixtures on Ludington street and an increase in lighting fixtures on Stephenson avenue. This program of modernization is needed for the general advancement of safety and business interests."

EVANS TALKS ON AVIATION

Director of Aeronautics Predicts Much U. P. Air Travel

Of interest here is a talk on "Michigan's Progress in Aviation" delivered by Col. Floyd Evans, Lansing, director of the state board of aeronautics, at a meeting of the Menominee chapter of the National Aeronautics Association, held Tuesday night in Menominee.

Seventy-five persons attended the first annual dinner meeting of the chapter, heard two talks and witnessed presentation of the chapter charter by Col. Evans.

Second speaker of the evening was A. G. Norwood, Washington, D. C., educational advisor of the Civil Aeronautic Authority, who flew to Menominee with Colonel Evans.

Other Cities Represented

Attending the meeting from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. Mario Fontana, Iron Mountain, who flew to Menominee airport in a two-place Taylorcraft; Dr. R. Lanting and Lieut. Walter Arntzen of Escanaba, who came here in a two-place Aeronca, and H. J. Norton of Escanaba, commissioner on the state board of aeronautics for Northern Michigan, who went to Menominee with Colonel Evans and Mr. Norwood.

Colonel Evans piloted a state-owned four-place Stinson cabin plane. Wednesday morning Colonel Evans, Mr. Norton and Mr. Norwood left here for Escanaba, where Norton returned to his home.

Colonel Evans and Norwood continued from Escanaba to Marquette, and will go thence to Houghton, where Norwood will visit the Michigan College of Mining and Technology. From Houghton they will return to lower Michigan.

Need of greater airport facilities in the state was stressed by Colonel Evans, who declared that growing number of tourist pilots means increased tourist revenue for the state if modern landing fields are provided.

At Petoskey last Fourth of July there were 24 visiting planes at that city's airport, Evans said. Northern Michigan with its long traveling distances and ideal resort areas make tourist plane landing fields essential.

"Tourist and resort associations should go after such business," Evans said. "The tourist aviator can't bring his trailer with him. He must spend more money for housing and usually will spend more than the auto traveler."

The Civil Aeronautics Authority now has before it a petition to permit establishment of a transport air line from Milwaukee to Marquette, and though it was thought by the state board of aeronautics that the line was years away, it may be started this year, Evans said.

"Another line in the offing is from Alpena through Rogers City, St. Ignace and Manistique to Marquette," Evans said. "Such a line would tie in with the proposed north and south line from Marquette to Milwaukee, providing a necessary travel link through two states."

Local Port Development

Menominee county airport will need improvements to make it safe for large transport planes and through the Menominee chapter of the N. A. A. the necessary interest to obtain funds for the improvements should not be hard to obtain, Col. Evans said.

"I miss the face of Frank Betts here," Col. Evans commented. "If it had not been for his foresight you would not have such a fine airport today."

Frank Betts of Escanaba was Menominee county highway superintendent and largely instrumental in establishing the county airport.

Norwood, former aviation teacher, was selected by the Civil Aeronautic Authority to establish aviation training course for students in 13 colleges in this country. The University of Michigan is one of the colleges selected.

Otto Kerwin, 86, Minneapolis, Dies

Otto Kerwin, 86, of Minneapolis, a former resident of Escanaba, and an uncle of Mrs. Ernest Rudolph of this city, died at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Tunstall. He had been in failing health for the past year.

Mr. Kerwin, who often returned here for visits with relatives, was one of Escanaba's early residents, and he worked here for many years as a tinsmith for the Chicago & North Western Railway. He was a member of Escanaba's first fire department.

The family moved to Minneapolis 25 years ago, and he had lived with his daughter there since the death of Mrs. Kerwin ten years ago.

Surviving are Mrs. Tunstall and one son, Julius, also of Minneapolis.

Funeral services were held Thursday at Minneapolis and burial was made there.

Curtailment Forecast

THE house of representatives has approved a measure to provide $36,826,000 a year in state aid to the public schools, with a provision for giving an extra share of 37 1-2 per cent of any state revenues in excess of present estimates.

What the extra distribution would amount to is uncertain, and probably it is something that the school district officials should not consider in drafting their budgets. The measure goes to senate, where it is expected educational interests will make another effort to boost the appropriation closer to the $45,000,000 amount that is considered to be necessary to maintain the present standards of education in the state. Very likely, however, the senate will agree on an appropriation approximating the house bill figure.

In view of the fact that school districts will not be able to increase the levy on local property because of the 15-mill tax limitation, the only alternative in the face of reduced revenues will be to curtail the school program. In some schools, economies will have to be effected by shorter terms, which will be tantamount to reducing the salaries of teachers, who already are not overpaid when compared to the incomes in other professions. In others, special departments that have been established in recent years to keep education apace with changing social and economic conditions may have to be eliminated, to the regret of those who have been receiving real benefits from these sources.

There has been a growing tendency of late for legislators and others to deride the educational interests as being "the most powerful pressure group". This unfair attitude tends to confuse the public. After all, the main reason why strenuous efforts are being made to secure adequate financing for the schools in Michigan is because there is so much need nowadays for providing every child with a good education.

We Forge Forward

WHATEVER else you choose to say about this country, we certainly can take it.

There is tremendous strength latent behind a system which can move forward, even slowly and cumbrously, in the face of war fears, in the face of a nation-wide coal strike, in the face of an unpredictable tax system and a Congress that talks economy and then bursts the dam of budget limits set by an executive they have condumned as money-reckless.

When, in spite of all these things, the national economy moves creakingly forward, you know that underneath there is strength. Given any sort of a chance it will rise to the surface somehow.

March, announced the Alexander Hamilton Institute, is the fifth consecutive month in which the national income was larger than in the corresponding period of a year ago. The national income for the first quarter of 1939 is estimated at $14,322,000,000 as compared with $12,883,000,000 last year.

In short, we are doing better than last year. But not enough better, considering what a poor year 1938 was.

Profits are up. The National City Bank of New York presents figures to indicate that 305 leading industrial corporations made net profits of $206,000,000 in the first quarter of this year. That is more than double the profit reported in the same period of last year.

The coal strike is over. The European war situation is less acute, for the moment at least. Wheat prices have risen somewhat on drouth reports. The motor and construction industries are holding up well. Traffic should spurt, now that the mines have resumed working and re-stocking of exhausted coalbins begins. Employment is gaining slightly, not enough, but some, and relief rolls have been slightly pared.

The stage is set for a considerable revival of business this summer. The bigger units of business, realizing that they must function whether conditions exactly please them or not, have succeeded in making money in the first quarter. It can be done. It is being done.

What the country needs right now is: forget Europe and its war talk, forget politics and partisanship, forget griping, and saw wood!

New Minority Problem

WHEN Hitler seized Czechoslovakia it was freely predicted that he was letting himself in for a new racial minority problem. For within the "German" racial area he then incorporated millions of non-German Czechs with a national life and culture that never can become German.

Those problems are already coming to the surface. The clamps of German ways of living and working, of Berlin decrees governing prices, wages, hours, and the status of Jews are being closed on the Czechs.

The Czechs are in no position to resist forcibly. But the trade union movement has been driven into unity since March 15 by hints that high production, faster work will be demanded by the Germans in order to speed up the export trade which Hitler has said Germany must have or die.

It will remain to be seen just how far Hitler will be successful in dealing with an antagonistic and sullenly-hostile racial minority, the problem which has been the ruin of so many central European governments. Immediate prospects are none too rosy.

But Hitler can expect little sympathy. After all, he asked for it.

Somewhat Drastic

THE suggestion by Former Governor Chase S. Osborn that the national guard be called out to enforce the liquor laws did not get Governor Dickinson very excited, although the chief executive long has been keenly interested in the dry cause in Michigan.

The "grand old man" of Sault Ste. Marie has a faculty for coming out with startling ideas, but we agree with Governor Dickinson that the present situation does not demand the declaration of martial law.

Conscientious day by day enforcement of liquor laws by the various responsible agencies should be sufficient to take care of the problem.

FORCED SALUTES TO THE FLAG
(Milwaukee Journal)

The assembly, by a vote of 65 to 16, has passed the Schmitz bill to compel display of the flag in schools and the recitation of the oath of allegiance by pupils. It is astonishing, but apparently 65 of our assemblymen think that patriotism can be furthered by this forced attention to our country's banner. It may be hoped that better sense will be shown by the senate.

True patriotism is one of the highest and most unselfish of human emotions. It should be developed in our young by every practical means. At home, as well as in the classroom, the advantages we enjoy as citizens of this land should be shown. In other words, the reasons why we should love our country even more than other peoples love their should be brought forward and laid before the "impressionable minds" of the children. The method, if it is to be successful, will be persuasive rather than argumentative or arbitrary.

Forced salutes and oaths smack of dictatorship. They tend to cultivate fear rather than love. They are undemocratic and unwholesome. It matters not at all that some 20 other states have ill advisedly adopted similar statutes and that the supreme court has declared them constitutional. They are still an unwise compulsion, and Wisconsin, which has the reputation of common sense in such matters, should have none of them.

AROUND THE PENINSULA
(Ironwood Globe)

A native son of the Peninsula, Father George Laforest, who was born at Franklin Mine, Houghton county, has been assigned the task of creating harmony in the Vulcan parish. He takes the place of Father Simon Borkowski, who was "imprisoned" for 35 weeks and recently joined the Franciscan order. The Vulcan territory he will serve should not be exactly new to Father Laforest. He served St. Joseph's parish at Iron Mountain, not far from Vulcan, from 1912 until 1916 when he was moved to Menominee. Friends of Father Laforest are confident he will meet with success at Vulcan despite the strife within the parish.

It may surprise some folks to learn that the Menominee harbor last year shipped marine cargoes valued at more than $18,000,000, which was only $2,000,000 short of the value of the cargoes shipped out of Green Bay, which is a much larger place. Incidentally, the Menominee harbor only last week had the unusual experience of shipping coal instead of receiving it. The freighter Charles C. West loaded 7,500 tons of screenings for a lower lake port. You guessed it—the coal strike was the reason.

Ishpeming has set up a tentative budget of $6,000 for its anniversary jubilee and homecoming celebration in July, much of which has been raised. But one thing is certain, says Spencer Heiden, finance chairman. "We are going to measure our celebration entirely on the basis of money we are certain of raising. We are not going to wind up our program in red ink." That ought to be encouraging to all who are planning for the homecoming. Frequently, in the enthusiasm of preparations, a committee is apt to schedule more than it can pay for, only to have dismal meetings after it is all over to figure out ways and means to make up the deficit.

Trooper Harold Bliss has been ordered transferred from St. Ignace to Munising and well meaning friends are now asking Commissioner Oscar Olander of the state police to reconsider and let him remain at St. Ignace. This is something friends should not meddle with. It is the policy of the state police to shift troopers from one point to another so that they may become thoroughly acquainted with the state. Bliss will profit from the transfer. He would probably be nothing more than a trooper all his life if he were kept in one place..

An idea of what water traffic may bring to the state convention of the American Legion in Escanaba is gained from the announcement that 400 members of the Detroit Board of Commerce will arrive in Escanaba June 17 by steamer for a joint session with the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau. If one boat will bring 400 visitors, a large crowd is assured if Legionnaires down state decided to charter a half dozen vessels.

Corporal Michael Jascur of Company K, Fort Brady, was only an orderly to his commanding officer when they attended Crown Prince Olav of Norway at Chicago and Detroit, but his neat and soldierly appearance won recognition for him, and that is the crowning achievement of an orderly. His appearance struck the crown prince so favorably that he presented the corporal with the royal ciphor, a small pin of gold on which the initials of the prince and princess are superimposed. And Corporal Jascur had the honor of presenting the crown prince with the regimental insignia of the Second Infantry. Now the qquestion is raised, will regulations permit the corporal to wear the royal ciphor on his uniform?

DUCE SKIRTS AROUND WAR
(From the Commentator Magazine)

In estimating Italy and her effect on events in the immediate future, one must never forget that the world is dealing with a oneman government, and not the Italian people. That government tries to improve the lot and position of Italy, and so far as possible to restore the grandeur of ancient Rome. The huge map of the old empire so promiently displayed in Rome is no idle gesture. It represents the goal of Mussolini. But being essentially practical, he will take half a loaf if he cannot get the whole.

Past events have demonstrated Mussolini's accurate, occasionally hairline, estimate of his weapons; Italy's ability to start trouble, and in case of war to hit quickly and hard; and the menace to conservative interests in France and Britain if his regime were to fall.

The best opinion seems to be that Italian precipitation of a war in 1939 could come only from two causes: Mussolini's miscalculation of how far he can push France and Britain, or pressure from Germany. Of the two risks, the latter is the greater. Informed opinion in Italy is that, left to himself, Mussolini has complete confidence in his ability to get all that really can be had, with actually going to war.

The miners and operators are still deadlocked. If their hotel had run out of coal to heat the conference room, bet they'd have reached an agreement long ago.

Some of the false story-book glamor that surrounds royalty in the minds of Americans—the feeling that kings and queens are made of different clay than the corner grocer—may be dispelled by the history-making visit of two modest human beings named King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

For this first British king and queen to set foot on American soil are simple and personally popular people who are far less likely to "put on airs" than would many of their snobbish subjects in England's so-called upper classes.

If Americans find King George and Queen Elizabeth given to simpler, everyday manners than one associates with monarchs, it must be remembered that this royal couple was not "born" to the throne.

The one-time Duke of York did not expect ever to become King George VI. He had an elder brother, the Prince of Wales, who actually succeeded to the throne as King Edward VIII.

And Queen Elizabeth was not even of royal blood. She came from the old Scotch peerage. She did not expect to be the Queen. Hers was a love match with an attractive young prince who expected to devote himself to the air force after having left the navy. It was the famous episode of King Edward's love for Mrs. Simpson, which caused him to give up the throne, that paved the way for George to succeed him.

For years the Duke and Duchess of York had lived like ordinary rich English folk, not in a palace, but in a tall, stone front, four-story house in Piccadilly, neighbors of the Rothschilds and the Duke of Wellington.

—KING LOOKS YOUNGER THAN HIS YEARS—

Crowds which will throng the streets of American and Canadian cities when the royal couple drive by will see a man, youngish-looking for all his 43 years, whose wholesome, manly face easily breaks into a crinkly smile.

They will see a queen who, by any standard, would be voted a very pretty woman, although she seems to be setting in for comfortable, plump matronhood.

They will discover King George to be shy about speech-making because of his battle with stammering.

They will see a chic but not "overdressed" queen who is bringing with her a stack of beautiful new clothes which were especially designed for this trip.

Being King of Canada, George VI will have with him many of his uniforms as top officer in the British army, navy and air force. But chances are that none of these will be seen in the United States. He will wear civilian clothes.

There is one possible exception. If the King goes to Arlington across the Potomac from Washington, to pay homage to the grave of the American Unknown Soldier, he may don a military uniform.

—EXPERIENCED WAR AT FIRST HAND—

George VI has always been a very serious young man. He has taken all his duties in great earnest.

Unlike many sprigs of royalty, he really served during the World War. Princelings, who nominally served with the armies, could be put in safe spots. But the Duke of York was a junior officer on a battleship which was engaged in the Battle of Jutland. German shells were no respectors of persons. A royal Duke was just as apt to be hit as a common sailor and just as apt to drown if the ship were sunk.

As the Duke of York, he thus had his real baptism of fire. And it's certain that threats of war now—and rumors of a German submarine off the Canadian coast—could not have frightened this British navy man from an overseas trip to America.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York — The dressmakers were thrown for a goal a year ago when Elizabeth Hawes, the style setter, resolved to tell ALL in a book she wrote entitled "Fashion Is Spinach."

In it she debunked the hysterical rivalry in feminine fashions and told milady that she'd look as smart in a $1.98 dirndl as in a creation by Patou. Naturally, the squawks were manifold and so were the fan letters, for many a lady wrote to ask Miss Hawes how to be chic but thrifty.

Well, Miss Hawes has just put out a new blast between covers for the male folk. "Men Can Take It," she calls it and tells how the "stronger of the sexes" has been cajoled and bullied into wearing uncomfortable clothes.

The other day a Columbia undergraduate got wind of the book and called up Miss Hawes.

"This is for the prom," he said, "what'll I wear?"

Miss Hawes told him: An alpaca tuxedo, bell - bottom trousers, a heavy silk blouse open at the throat and a colored sash around the waist.

And did he dress as she told him? He did. The dope.

So Miss Hawes concludes that fashion is spinach, after all.

Before appearing at an auditorium to make a speech, Dorothy Thompson visited a beauty salon to be prettied up for the occasion. One of the more alert operators in the place recognized the celebrity, and after Miss Thompson left, excitedly rushed over to a manicurist to inform her about the identity of the customer on whom she had worked.

The manicurist, obviously, was disappointed.

"Was that Dorothy Thompson?" she exclaimed. "They told me she was Mrs. Sinclair Lewis!"

AIR-MINDED MUSICIANS

Those mighty musical virtuosos take to the air with the greatest of ease.

Recently Jose Iturbi alighted from his own especially - built plane at Newark Airport and taxied to Manhattan to give a concert. His private co-pilot remained behind to tune up the motors for the next long hop. And the next long hop was in the direction of South America where Iturbi has since gone for a number of engagements.

Another who owns and flies his own plane is Jascha Heifetz, who set out on a cross-country junket in his own flying machine to give violin concerts on behalf of a worthy charity. He, too, carries a co-pilot but likes to be at the controls himself. Iturbi is a veteran of aviation and has laughed off a couple of crack-ups. He even finds time to go over his musical scores while aloft.

If immuned against the sordid fumes of perverted propaganda, the younger generation will continue to develop the high standards of morality and idealism of which we are so proud.

Stalin is God's greatest enemy.
—Senator Robert R. Reynolds, North Carolina Democrat.

Should the great European powers find substantial foothold in the west, we should be back, not in the 19th century but the 18th.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The backstage maneuvering to get Madame Secretary Perkins to take over the new social security outfit created by reorganization, and to get Honest Harold Ickes to step from the Interior Department over to the new construction agency, probably will not get far.

Both could have the jobs if they wanted them, but no spark of enthusiasm is apparent in the breast of either.

Miss Perkins is suspicious that certain forces are anxious to euchre her out of the Cabinet. In this she is right. Labor leaders would like nothing better than see her in charge of social problems, thus permitting potent Ed McGrady, once her assistant secretary, to come back in full charge of the Labor Department.

The situation in regard to Ickes is different. The President needs a man with a reputation for forthright honesty and no political machinations as the head of the new organization which will take over PWA, WPA, public roads, etc. But Ickes has his heart set on doing a real job on conservation and does not want to leave the Interior Department.

So the most likely head of the new construction-spending agency is Colonel "Pinky" Harrington, who inherited WPA from Harry Hopkins. Jesse Jones is a sure bet as head of the new lending agency which will take over Federal Housing, Home Owners Loan Corporation, etc., as well as the RFC; while Arthur J. Altmeyer, now head of the Social Security Board, is slated to take over the new social security agency.

—ANOTHER BOAKE CARTER—

Elliott Roosevelt, turbulent second son of the President, was invited to speak before the Advertising Club of New York recently—for five minutes. A group of other young business executives under 30 also were asked to speak on the opportunities in business for young men of today, tell how they started and where they were going, each being allowed two minutes.

Among the guests in the audience were a number of prominent business executives and newspaper writers, including Boake Carter.

Elliott spoke for twenty minutes, thereby cutting several of the other speeches off the air. After burbling along about himself and what he had done, Elliott confessed that his real goal in life was to be a great newspaper columnist.

"My ambition," he said, nodding toward the guests' table, "is to be another Boake Carter."

—SHADOW OF TOWNSENDISM—

For some unexplained reason the most important of the Social Security amendments offered by the House Ways and Means Committee has completely escaped attention.

It is a far-reaching liberalization of the annuity system, and illustrates the powerful influence that the shadow of Townsendism exerts on the secret councils of the lawmakers. The amendment was framed for the express purpose of placating the clamor for more generous old-age benefits.

The plan, in effect, would give every contributor to the annuity system a government trust fund worth thousands of dollars, by paying benefits to his wife and minor children in the event of his death. This is the way it would work:

A man with a wife and two children, one and two years of age, dies before reaching the age of 65. He has been making $150 a month, on which he has paid $58.50 in annuity taxes and his employer the same amount, a total of $117. The two children immediately start receiving $47.50 a month, until they are 18 years years of age if they remain in school, or until they are 16 if they do not. The purpose of this is to induce children to complete high school training.

The total trust fund thus left these two minors by their father amounts to $10,000. And that isn't all. After the widow reaches the age of 65, she becomes eligible to an annuity of two-thirds of her husband's original pension as long as she lives. The minimum payment under the amendment is $10 a month.

Social Security experts estimate that payments under the plan would come to $27,000,000 in 1940; $69,000,000 in 1941; $176,000,000 by 1945; and $255,000,000 by 1955.

—UNDER THE DOME—

Following the House address of President Anastasio Somoza, Representative J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey Republican, walked up to Representative Edward J. Hart, New Jersey Democrat, and asked "Well, Ed, are you going to shake hands with the Frank Hague of Nicaragua?" . . . If long-jawed Jimmy Cromwell, husband of tobacco heiress Doris Duke, is ever appointed to the Senate he will know his way about the chamber. Cromwell has been a frequent visitor to the Capital in recent weeks, appearing at committee hearings and holding long conferences with Senators . . . . . When served a slice of bologna distributed by a booster colleague, Philadelphia's bachelor Representative Jim McGranery remarked, "This is probably some of last year's campaign pledges sliced very thin".

SANCTUARY

And now, fond heart,
Why should we want
So many things,
When all we need
Is magic wings
To escape to yonder
Fairy cloud,
And so evade
The sorry shroud
Of our sore wants
And discontent?
There would we find peace,
Peace ———— and merriment —
Hail to merriment!

MILL STRIKE NOT SETTLED

Workers Walked Out of Newberry Plant Two Weeks Ago

Newberry—A settlement of the 13-day old Robbins Flooring mill strike of union employes is not considered probable at least until June 5 when another meeting between union and company officials is scheduled, Alex Hautala, president of the local A. F. of L. affiliate union, announced Thursday.

With most of the company's pending flooring orders filled yesterday, the plant was to be shut down until May 29, company officials said. The mill had been in operation for several days by work done by non union men who defied picketers to work in the mill. About 80 non union men were working during the strike.

An attempt at a settlement of the strike by John Luecke, Commissioner of Conciliation of the U. S. Department of Labor, Tuesday, failed. Officials of the union, who are seeking an all-union shop, and company officials could not come to an agreement. Hautala said, however, that Paul Abendroth, general manager of the plant had verbally recognized the union shortly after it was organized, but has since made no acknowledgement. The union also asked for a 10 per cent increase in wages.

If the plant is put back in operation on May 29th, non-union men will furnish labor and will not be molested by picketers, Hautala said. Union men will continue to picket the plant until a settlement is reached, he added.

About 90 per cent of the mill employees are union men, the A. F. of L. offiliate being known as Local 2656, Lumber and Sawmill Workers, and United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners Union.

Oil Operators Look To Upper Peninsula As Drilling Activities Spread Northward

Geologists Find Similar Conditions Prevail Above Straits

The lower picture shows plant life of the dim past, a contributing factor to crude oil's formation.

Prof. Hussey, geologist of the University of Michigan, made a study several years ago of rock formations along the shores of Bay de Noc and the Escanaba river, and found evidences that this area was many centuries ago experiencing tropical conditions, with marine and plant life like that shown in the pictures existing in abundance.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The following article, exclusive to the Escanaba Daily Press, was written by Ray E. Colton, free lance science writer, who contributes articles on the oil and mining industries to various magazines and newspapers. He came to the Upper Peninsula this week after an extensive tour through the Lower Michigan oil fields.)

* * *

BY RAY E. COLTON
Science Writer

Lying dormant for two years, it appears from news reaching the writer from oil operators and geologists, now acting in the producing oil fields of the Lower Peninsula, that the oil "bug" will soon be buzzing around in the Upper Peninsula, and most of the expected "play" will be centered in a tri-county area defined geographically as Delta-Schoolcraft-Mackinac counties.

In this article, the writer will not only reveal this coming activity and what caused it to materialize, but will reveal in non-technical language, the prehistoric past of the Upper Peninsula as determined by scientific research around Escanaba, Gladstone, Boney Falls, Manistique and St. Ignace, and how the forms of life which were contemperaneous with the dim past, evolved into a mass of crude oil which is believed to lie at reasonable drilling depths.

Leasing In Progress

During the past two weeks, it has become apparent to those conversant with the existing petroleum industry in the state of Michigan, that the heavy "play" in both drilling and bringing in of "gushers" in the Lower Peninsula, will be extended to the north shoreline of Lake Michigan and will extend westward from St. Ignace in Mackinac county through Schoolcraft county and into Delta at a point near Gladstone. Leasing of land in the form of block acreage, has been going on for some time in the area around St. Ignace, and it is understood by the writer, that a seismograph test is planned soon for the area between St. Ignace and Manistique.

That the Upper Peninsula should produce crude oil in commercial amounts, and that millions of cubic feet of natural gas lie beneath the surface in the area defined above, is conceded by competent geological authority. In view of this, and further evidence that the forms of life from which crude oil and natural gas evolved, one time existed here, as will be explained elsewhere in this article, it would be ridiculous to assume, that the Upper Peninsula of Michigan would not produce under proper drilling operations, crude oil and natural gas.

On the basis of these theories, oil operators and field geologists, are preparing to invade the Upper Peninsula and ascertain by the latest scientific apparatus i. e. seismograph and magnetometer, just what the chances are here for the retrievement of crude oil and natural gas in commercial amounts.

Evidences of Oil

The first test well sunk in Mackinac county, was the Charles Van Keuren, Hiawatha Club 2, located in Garfield township of said county, T44N, R9W. This well according to the last report on it which appeared in the Michigan oil and gas news, showed a shutdown at a depth of 1105 feet. Traces of oil and showings of gas, appeared from time to time in this well, but not in amounts which could be classed as commercial production. However, sufficient data was gained during the drilling operations, to warrant another try at a location, as yet unselected, some distance from the old well which is defined locally as Section 27, NE SW SE of Garfield township, Mackinac county.

During drilling in the above location, it was noted that several of the cores taken, showed foraminfera and other tiny micro-organic marine life (shells), which in prehistoric times, say 150 million years before man, formed one of the first basis for crude oil. This indication gave added impetus to further search for petroliferous deposits beneath the Upper Peninsula, and is also an influencing factor in laying the foundation for the coming "play" in the tri-county area designated elsewhere in this article.

Oil or "black gold" as it is known in Michigan and other areas where oil is produced, evolved from three primary organic sources, namely, the decayed remains of marine, plant and animal life which were contemperaneous with the Paleozoic, Mesozoic and Genozoic eras of the dim geologic record. During the past few years, several finds of fossil remains of marine and plant life have been found in the area around Escanaba especially in the bed of the Escanaba river. These finds made by the emminent Michigan scientist, Dr. R. C. Hussey, of the geological department of the University of Michigan, established indisputable evidence insofar as science is concerned, that during past periods of the geologic record, great numbers of marine life inhabited the waters of a shallow sea, which inundated what is today a large portion of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

The first forms of life from which crude oil came, were those of the marine species, namely: trilobites, cephalopods, gastropods, ammonoids, and other species of the mollusca or shell life. These forms of life, existing here during the Cambrian, Permian and other periods of the major Paleozoic geologic era, about 150 million years ago, on dying, left permanent remains in the form of silicates and carbonates-the matter of shell and bone. The agency which solidified this organic mass of invertebrate species of marine life in the depths of the shallow sea once covering this part of the North American continent, was subterranean heat. This same agency, later acting excessively, caused a terrific upheaval, which not only elevated the floor of the sea, and caused the waters to recede and establish new shorelines, but entombed the marine life in the strata folds of anticlines, monoclines, synclines and other geological formations which are in evidence beneath the sub-surface of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Tropical Plant Life Comes

Following this upheaval, and as is evidenced by rocks and shales found throughout Delta, Schoolcraft and Mackinac counties which contain the imprints of tropical plant life such as fern, palm, conifers, etc., it is apparent, that the area represented today by the above counties, nourished a plant life which could only have existed under tropical climatic conditions. Forms of life such as the fern, the palm, the conifer and the cycad, on dying, also left remains in the form of decayed vegetation which down through the aeons of time which have elapsed, have filtered into the ground, and laid a second organic mass on top of the original mass, namely: the marine life. On top of this mass of decomposed organisms, there has during the past millions of years, come the decaying remains of animal and repitlian life, long since passed into oblivion. The entire conglomerate, namely: marine, plant and animal, has formed a mass which is today known as crude oil.

How Mass Migrated

As established by years of field and laboratory work on the part of major oil companies, and as explained above, crude oil evolved from the slow decomposition of organic material which became entrapped in what are termed geologically as argillaceous sediments, i.e. muds and clays. These source beds were compacted into a solid mass as each geologic period laid down additional decayed matter to complete the finished product.

From the source beds, the petroliferous material migrated to what are termed as adjacent porous rocks, sandstone, limestones and lenticular sand bodies. This movement, as recently determined by study of the producing formations of Lower Michigan, namely: the Dundee, the Traverse and the Michigan Stray, was caused by one or more of several forces such as capillarity, dehydration and induration of the clays, earth movement during quakes, and hydrostatic pressure which was naturally caused by accumulations of gas.

Reservoir Rocks Formed

The porous beds are termed as "reservoir rocks" and in both the Lower and Upper Peninsulas of the state of Michigan, are found during geologic research to consist in the main of sands or sandstone, limestones, conglomerates, fractured shales, or creviced or cellular rocks of other types. In order that a commercial accumulation of oil may form in these formations, it is necessary, that the reservoir rock be permeable as well as porous, and it must be encased in what is termed in the oil fields, as impermeable strata, that is rock which is so laid down as to cause the imprisonment of the contained hydrocarbons originating from the marine life, with freedom of movement, yet with no escape from the reservoir proper.

Attitude of Rock Is Factor

One of the most important things during searches of an unproven area such as the Upper Peninsula of Michigan for crude oil, is the geological work of studying the shapes or attitudes of the reservoir rocks themselves. The shape must show that the hydrocarbons which as explained before, originated from decayed remians of prehistoric life, have had the tendency during the ages to collect in some part of the rock under the influence of differential gravitation, hydrostatic pressure or natural gas. Favorable places for the concentration of the petroliferous material i.e. crude oil, will be found here at the top of a fold in the given stratum (a dome or anticline), in a lenticular sand body, or against a fault plane. Conditions vary in certain areas, and recent work performed in the Mackinac county area between St. Ignace and Gilchrist, showed that there was little similarity between these formations and those existing in the area between Gilchrist and Manistiqque in Schoolcraft county. This is not to be interpreted as meaning, "that the general geologic structure of these areas are not the same," but merely points out what a few miles can do in determining the existence of formations which may contain oil.

Recovery of Oil

Old Mother Nature in the dim past, had strange ideas regarding the placement of her bounties for man of today to recover. This is glaringly seen in geologic research which shows that the Old Dame had a way of blocking off certain areas, and keeping the crude oil in one spot by the ingenius manner of erecting barriers in the form of strata which could not absorb the life from which crude oil evolved. This is the other side of crude oil recovery, and is a "thorn in the side" of the oil geologist, wherever he finds those conditions existent.

Igneous rocks which are necessarily of granite origin and laid down during the Pleistocene or glacial era which was one of the sub periods of the Ceonozoic geologic era, cannot be a source of crude oil, except under very remote conditions. Oil could have migrated from adjacent petroliferous shales to rocks of igneous origin and then fill fractures or voids. known occurences of this nature, are extremely rare, and they certainly possess no commercial importance. What are termed as metomorphic rocks some of which originated from the igneous rocks could never have contained the required hydrocarbons, and those derived from the laying down of sedimentary deposits might once have contained such material, but it would have been dissipated or destroyed by the processes which altered these rocks to their present condition.

In certain areas of Schoolcraft and Mackinac, outcrops of igneous and metomorphic rocks appear, yet, investigating oil geologists see no obstacle in the path of "recovery" of oil in these areas, if drilling is carried to depths of 4,000 to 5,000 feet beneath the surface.

Oil Seeps and Gas Shows

It is noted, especially in certain areas in Mackinac county, around St. Ignace, Groscap, Moran and Gilchrist, that what are termed as "oil seeps" appear from time to time in water wells and on the surface of Carp river. These natural seepages of oil and also emanations of gas are very important especially when they appear in a new and unproven area for oil recovery, such as the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. They not only show that there is a strong possibility of recovery under proper drilling operations, but furnish data to the geologist which, if correctly interpreted, aid in determining the possibilities of production. The importance of oil seeps, however, is most generally emphasized by the layman. Seepages are no sure promise of commercial production of crude oil. They merely show that source beds are present in the area where such seeps appear, and when these seeps appear in structure that are favorable in other respects, they give added evidence that under proper structural conditions, the possibility of production is good.

Lower Peninsula Producing

A visit to the producing areas of oil and gas in Allegan, Van Buren, Kent and Midland counties in the Lower Peninsula of Michigan by the writer a few days ago, revealed unusual activities especially in the new drilling area located in Wyoming and Walker townships, near Grandville, eight miles southwest of the city of Grand Rapids. The principal operator in this latter area is Roy Ide of Grand Rapids who recently extended this field one mile east, with the bringing in of a small "gusher" flowing 30 barrels per hour natural, at the start. The well listed as Ide and Glavin's Development Corporation's Renihan 2, located in the NW SW SE of section 33-7N-12W of Walker township of Kent county, tapped the productive Traverse Line at a depth of 1,744 feet and had oil saturation at 1,761 feet. This hole was bottomed temporarily at a depth of 1,777 feet and preparations were being made to either deepen or acidize for an increased output.

This well has opened the way for a tremendous drilling spree and has definitely headed this new "boom" rated as the state's number 1 "play" toward the city limits of Grand Rapids itself.

Preparations for extending drilling operations eventually to a point as far north as Cedar Springs, extreme northern part of Kent county, shows that recovery plans are being made to drill toward the Upper Peninsula itself. This trend northward and across the Straits to the Upper Peninsula is seen also in continued development and new drilling in Otsego county around Gaylord. This is only 69 miles south of Mackinaw City.

That the "boom" is on as far as the Lower Peninsula is concerned is seen in the "kickoff" when a few weeks ago, the Michigan state geological survey issued 43 permits in one week, which according to statistics, is next to an all-time record. Drilling operations throughout the Lower Peninsula including locations and shutdowns jumped from 226 in one week to 248 the next week—eight ahead of a similar period during the year of 1938.

Owing to overcrowded conditions in the producing fields of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan, operators are looking northward and across the Straits of Mackinac, with the ultimate purpose in mind, of starting a counter 'boom' in the tri-county area of Delta, Schoolcraft and Mackinac.

As stated in the beginning of this article, there appears no obstacle in the path of attempted recovery of "pools" of crude oil which in the opinion of investigating geologists, familiar with the structural conditions existing beneath the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, should be found at reasonable drilling depths.

Yes! The Upper Peninsula is being watched closely by the oil operators now working in the Lower Peninsula, and before the year of 1939 has passed, test wells will be drilled in one of the three counties mentioned in this article.

Michigan In Washington

BY Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

A death blow to the Mackinaw Straits bridge bill, at least for this session is seen by various Michigan Congressmen at the sudden promotional interest of Frank Mc Kay, Grand Rapids Republican.

The publishing of a telephone call from Mc Kay to Congressman Carl E. Mapes, of Grand Rapids, long an opponent of the estimated 30 million dollar proposal, only tightens the opposition. The Mc Kay stamp on the project would make, they say, any congressman hesitate to switch over his vote to a "yes" for fear of being labelled with the Mc Kay interests. George A. Dondero, Royal Oak Republican, the other ardent opponent to the bridge bill because it opened the door for state approval to the "too expensive" project said Mc Kay had not called him.

Mapes' position has not changed and will not. He realizes fully that the bill is merely an authorization for construction necessary as a protraction to navigation, but when Honest Carl is against something he is against it. Mc Kay or anyone else can't budge Carl Mapes when he has decided on a course of action.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (who has not received a telephone call from Mc Kay) differs with Mapes on the bridge bill. He contends that the concern of Congress with the bridge begins and ends with the question of whether or not there is any obstruction to navigation. The rest is a state matter to be settled by state officials.

Fred Bradley, representing the bridge district, is not a little dashed at this unanticipated blow to his bill. He has had long conferences with Congressmen Mapes and Dondero, who were soon to voice their objections before a sub-committee hearing of the House Inter-state and Foreign Commerce committee. Bradley makes clear that he has received no telephone calls from Mc Kay or any of his associates — and wants none.

One ray of hope Bradley sees in the written desire of Major General J. H. Schley, Chief of Engineers, to co-operate with those conducting the survey. While formally he can not act without legislation, he is willing to discuss horizontal clearances and other pertinent facts to prove whether or not the bridge is or is not feasible from a navigation viewpoint.

While other husbands are dodging the topic of the World's Fair, Edmund Ruzanski, Ford employee, is making life miserable for immigration officials of two countries for the chance to escort his wife.

But she is in Russia, where he was forced to leave her when his work called him back to the United States. At that time he was assured by the Russian government that his wife would be allowed to follow him shortly. His efforts, supported by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and the entire Michigan delegation have not been successful in getting her to this country.

Desperate, Ruzanski has named Labor Day as the deadline of his patience. If he receives no favorable word from his last plea and proof of ability to support his wife, he will go to the World's Fair alone. There he says he will picket the Soviet exhibition. Wearing a red shirt with a placard fore and aft, he will let his grievance be known. Thus he plans to tell how the U. S. A. R., a "Labor" government, treats a laborer.

Stalked by a war party of four Indians, Fred Bradley, of Rogers City, nearly missed the congressional tour to the World's Fair. Headed by a Chippewa Princess (Mrs. Charles Mattson), two women and one man all in full regalia arrived at his office in behalf of their tribe living on Sugar Island.

It seems that back in the powwows of 1835-55, treaties were signed and sealed with the United States, promising the tribe certain sums of money. Full payment was made and the Chippewas consider it high time the government made good on the age-old claim. Great poverty and distress is said to exist among these original Michigan-Americans.

Bradley received them sympathetically, if hurriedly, and is asking for an accounting of the strayed payments from the general accounting office. If this search is not satisfactory and the Office of Indian Affairs allows the validity of their claim, he will consider introducing legislation for appropriate care of the Princess and her tribesmen.

Upper Peninsula Has 16,081 Farms

Chassel, Mich.—An agricultural tabulation of farms and adult dairy cattle in the 15 counties of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, shows that there are 16,081 farms in the district, and 73,708 dairy cattle. The figures by counties, based on the 1935 census and compiled for E. A. Hamar, Chassell, chairman of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau's agricultural committee, are as follows:

County	Farms	Cattle
Alger	671	2,887
Baraga	838	3,780
Chippewa	1,779	9,221
Delta	1,554	8,120
Dickinson	772	3,032
Gogebic	913	2,957
Houghton	2,000	8,526
Iron	1,010	3,991
Keweenaw	177	369
Luce	322	1,142
Mackinac	618	3,041
Marquette	1,381	4,368
Menominee	2,186	14,493
Ontonagon	1,409	5,677
Schoolcraft	451	2,104
Totals	16,081	73,708

Menominee county, with its extensive butter, cheese making and milk condensary interests, is far ahead of other northern counties in cattle totals. Houghton has nearly as many farms as Menominee but is outdistanced by Chippewa in dairy cattle. Delta is steadily going ahead in number of farms and cattle, while Mackinac, not generally considered to be a farming county, makes a surprisingly good showing, due to agricultural expansion chiefly in the northern and western parts of the county.

ASSIGN LAND EXPERT

Menominee—George Hurrell of Lansing has been appointed assistant agricultural agent in Menominee county by Michigan State college. Hurrell's appointment is temporary, and while here he will work on the land use program in Menominee county. His salary and expenses will be paid by the college.

Mr. Hurrell is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He received both an A. B. degree in geography and an M. S. degree in land utilization. He was born on a farm in Shiawassee county and spent the first 21 years of his life there.

While in Menominee county Mr. Hurrell will spend most of his time in working with the land use program committee in its detailed study of Menominee county land and farm problems. It is estimated that this study will take four to six months.

Mr. Hurrell plans to bring his family to Menominee about the middle of June.

OSBORN FIGHTS RUM

Sault Ste. Marie—Governor Luren Dickinson of Michigan was called upon today by former Governor Chase S. Osborn to put a stop to the liquor traffic in the state as "God's Governor," even if to do so "required a declaration of martial law and the use of state troops to enforce your decree."

The letter from the past to the present governor sets forth that the emergency created by the fact that Michigan people are spending more for intoxicants than they are for bread and meat, calls for the drastic action that is necessary in destroying a public enemy.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Washington—This is the Congress that was going to do big things in the way of economizing.

It applauded ironically last January when President Roosevelt, delivering his annual message, suggested that it could obtain economy if it so desired by cutting expenditures sharply. It followed up by sailing into the WPA deficiency appropriation bill and knocking $150,000,000 off it. It talked economy almost daily thereafter.

But, by this time, 4½ months of the session have passed, and a few votes have been taken. And the sad fact is that after it handled the WPA bill and got the oratory out of its system, Congress settled down to add to the deficit in a whole-hearted, two-handed manner. The total increases may well run over 500 millions of dollars.

• • •

DRAWING COMPARISONS

What the performance has been like can be gauged by glancing at the sums actually voted to date and comparing them with the sums recommended in the budget which the President submitted to Congress early in the year.

The most striking case, of course, is the Agriculture Department appropriation bill which is still pending.

In the budget, this was listed at $705,000,000.

When the bill passed the House, it carried $835,000,000. It had not been in the Senate a week before the total had risen to $1,216,000,000—the senators accomplishing this feat by boosting parity payments $225,000,000, sticking in $25,000,000 under the Farm Tenant Act, and hiking the surplus commodities expenditures by $113,000,000.

The budget put the Navy Department down for $720,987,000 (in all of these figures the odd thousands are omitted). When the navy bill got through the House it carried $773,000,000. It has not yet been acted on by the Senate.

• • •

ARMY, OFFICE FIGURES UP

The budget offered the army $461,710,000. When the army appropriations bill reached the President it carried $508,789,000.

Biggest single appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1940 to come before Congress to date is the independent offices bill. This was budgeted at $1,656,000,000; it was passed carrying $1,668,000,000.

Some economies were made here and there along the line, of course.

The budget allowed $51,562,000 for the District of Columbia. The House knocked this down to $46,902,000 and sent it to the Senate, which has not yet acted on it. District of Columbia residents whose municipal services (such as hospitals, police and fire departments, and so on) are covered in this bill, have no vote.

The budget allowed expenditures in the Postoffice Department of $793,331,000. This went through at $790,000,000.

The department of Labor was budgeted to get $30,930,000. The bill which passed the House and went on to the Senate carried $30,847,000.

The budget allowed $23,543,000 for the legislative establishment. As passed by the two houses and adjusted in conference, the legislative establishment bill carries $21,985,000.

The record is by no means complete as yet, of course. Many of the totals listed above may change materially before the bills actually go to the White House for signature. Some sizable appropriation measures have not yet come to a vote.

SERIAL STORY

DATE WITH DANGER

BY HELEN WORDEN

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MARY FRANKLIN—society editor.

DUKE MARTIN—suave night club gangster.

JANICE FRENCH — society deb.

JIM SHIRLEY—playboy.

• • •

Yesterday: Police tell Duke about dragging the body of Janice French from the river. Duke burns her pictures, but, he recalls, there are other rich girls in New York!

CHAPTER VIII

Mary, Ladd and Fenelon left the morgue knowing a crime had been committed but while Janice French was dead, there was no evidence to connect Duke Martin or Nick Hart with her suicide.

"The only thing to do now," said Ladd, "is to soft-pedal this. Martin and Nick will think the whole affair is forgotten. Meanwhile we can build up evidence against them."

He spoke irritably. Sleep was heavy upon him.

The commissioner pressed his hand to his forehead. "I must call this girl's mother and father. They are heartbroken."

"You can use the 'phone in this office, Commissioner," said Ryan.

Ladd stared reflectively at Mary. "You're coming back with me and write this story."

Mary nodded. A vision of Janice's mother and father rose before her eyes, aristocrats who lived a cotton-batten wrapped existence, shut away in a great Fifth Avenue mansion, from the realities of the world.

How much did they know? Would they be willing to face notoriety? Mary doubted it.

Once the Frenches heard of Janice's death they would never discuss her again. Mary knew they wouldn't come to the inquest. They'd send Thomas Robinson, their lawyer, instead. The funeral would be private. This, as far as the world was concerned, would end the story of Janice French.

Ladd's voice interrupted Mary's thoughts. "Come," he said. "I'll phone you from the office, Commissioner."

• • •

There was an indolent calm in the editorial offices of the Gazette as Mary walked in. She had left Ladd in the hall. The hurlyburly and fever of a fictional newspaper was missing. Here, on New York's biggest paper, a city, a nation and a world were being covered with serenity and precision.

The editorial offices were the antithesis of the mad, helter-skelter movie version of the crowded, tobacco-smoke filled city room in which copy paper covers the floor, reporters sit with feet on desks and hats pulled down over their eyes, an editor bawls everybody out and copy boys play poker.

The Gazette city room was large and airy. Sound-proofed ceilings gave it the quiet of a library.

The Society section lay directly back of the Wall Street department. But neither staff was down at this early hour. Only the lobster shift, the skeleton staff that came on at midnight and left when the first edition went to press, was there to assemble early news.

Crossie, his lanky body telescoped like a jack-knife, sat at the main desk, editing copy. Pecking away at nearby typewriters were re-write men and general reporters. Like most of them, Crossie wore a green celluloid eyeshade and from behind one ear protruded the stub of a yellow pencil. His soft shirt was open at the throat and a nondescript vest flapped about his lean body. He glanced up as Mary came toward him.

"Do the Jenace French story from the suicide angle," he said. "Play down the night club slant and don't mention the Duke. We're waiting for the copy," he added.

Tired as she was, Mary smiled. Crossie was always waiting for copy. Like some benevolent Simon Legree, he nagged his staff forever into producing more copy.

It was also characteristic of him that he asked nothing about the night's happenings. Shut up in the office of the Gazette, he seemed to know more than the reporters who'd been covering the story. When he apparently knew least, he'd suddenly surprise them by a question that revealed the crux of the whole situation.

Dawn was breaking as Mary sat down at her desk. She fitted carbon and copy paper in her typewriter, lit a cigaret and began tapping the typewriter keys.

"The body of the girl in the pink chiffon dress which was brought into the morgue late last night has been identified as Janice French of 902 Fifth Avenue. Police Commissioner Arthur Fenelon believes it a suicide case, but an inquest is to be held. . . . Miss French, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John French, made her debut in . . ."

Rolling the final sheet out of the machine, Mary called "Copy," lit another cigaret and leaned back in her chair.

Ladd had gone to his office when he left Mary in the hall. Now, as Mary called for the copy boy, he stuck his head out the door.

"Let me see what you've written before you hand it in."

She walked across to his office, the typewritten sheets in her hands.

One or two of the reporters looked up as she passed, their inquiring expressions changing to appreciative stares. In spite of lack of sleep, over-excitement and the strain on her emotions, she was more than pretty. Her evening gown, sloped provocatively off her shoulders, and as she walked, her feet, in delicate gold sandals, showed gracefully from beneath the hem of her gown. Ladd's eyes, like those of the men in the outer room, brightened as he saw her. "You can certainly take it," he said.

"I'm running on nerves."

• • •

While she talked, he was studying her copy, pencilling it occasionally. As he leaned on the desk, his angular form bent down the better to read the piece, Mary's dark eyes, off guard for the moment, rested affectionately on him. There had never been any sign of intimacy between this hard-boiled editor and herself and, so far as Ladd had shown, it had always been NEWS that concerned him when he was with her, but this morning for the first time Mary allowed herself to wonder about her boss. Though he had never paid her any particular attention, he was a type she liked. Now and then in the past he had stopped at her department to ask some question and once a month she had sat across from him at the inter-office meetings but this acquaintance had never gone further. Now everything between them seemed on a new footing.

She dropped her eyes suddenly as he looked up and a slow flush mounted her cheeks. She was being absurdly romantic. Idiot!

"Okay," he said, handing back the copy. "What about something to eat before you take that week's sleep. Ever try the Plaza for breakfast?"

"In this dress?" glancing at her evening gown.

"Why not? It won't be the first time anyone has breakfast at the Plaza in evening clothes. I'll meet you in the lobby."

Mary picked up a test copy of the Gazette on her way out. There was her story with a one-column head on it and her by-line beneath. She was glad Crossie had played the whole thing down. She wanted the Duke to believe she had decided to soft-pedal the affair. That was the line she intended to take with him—no use raking up dead bones—forget the whole thing.

"I've decided not to sleep for a week," she remarked to Ladd as she climbed into a taxi with him. "I'm going back to the Dove again tonight."

Ladd looked at her sharply. "You're up against a couple of killers. I don't think you can handle them alone!"

"I'm willing to take my chance."

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Most parents would like to "do more" than they are able to for their daughters. They hate to see them faced with the necessity for making good in the business world.

Morton Gill Clark, who has just written "Grace I Give You," a book about debutantes, thinks that is a pretty foolish attitude.

He is convinced that parents who launch their daughters into business are doing a lot more for them than the parents who launch their daughters into society.

As a Princeton undergraduate Mr. Clark, like many of his classmates, made an extra-curricular study of New York debs.

Later, when he finished school and went to work, he compared those debs with the girls he met in business.

He decided that the working girl gets the real breaks.

Here are his reasons: "She has to use her brains whether she wants to or not. The debutante isn't expected to know anything but the latest gossip.

"And the working girl learns to be gracious, just as soon as she finds out that good manners are more than an asset in the business world—that they are a necessity. The deb can be as rude as she likes—and often is.

"Then, too, hard as business competition is—it can't compare with the competition a deb meets. The deb not only has a shorter time than the business girl in which to make good—but if she doesn't happen to be good-looking, she hasn't a chance."

* * *

Working Girls Marry Men Who Are On Way Up

But doesn't Mr. Clark admit that the society girl is the lucky girl when it comes to making a good marriage?

He does not.

"The working girls have a chance at the best husbands—ambitious young business and professional men who haven't the time nor the money to spend on debutantes. The average debutante gets married—but usually doesn't stay married—to a playboy—whose father can afford a wife for his son."

Christian Science Churches

"Soul and Body" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 21.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 58:10) is: "If thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noon day."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Deuteronomy 10:12): "And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 273): "Man is harmonious when governed by Soul. Hence the importance of understanding the truth of being, which reveals the laws of spiritual existence."

Silver Jubilee of Four Sisters of St. Francis Is Fittingly Observed

The silver jubilee of four Sisters of St. Francis, Sisters M. Salesia, M. Conrada, M. Apolonia and M. Constance, all members of the staff of St. Francis hospital of this city, who took the vows of their order twenty-five years ago in Echt, Holland, was fittingly celebrated on Thursday.

Outstanding among the events of the day was the surprise visit paid the hospital by the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, Bishop of Marquette, who being advised of the jubilee, made a hurried trip to Escanaba, to offer an anniversary mass in the hospital chapel and to remain as a guest at the dinner served in honor of the jubilarians.

The anniversary observance opened with a high mass in the chapel at 6 o'clock Thursday morning, with the Rev. Joseph A. Paquet, chaplain of the hospital, as celebrant, and the special anniversary mass of which the Most Rev. Bishop Plagens was celebrant was at 8:30 o'clock. Bishop Plagens delivered a beautiful address, paying high tribute to the vocation of service to which members of the Order have dedicated their lives, and Rev. Fr. Paquet's sermon at the earlier mass was on the same theme.

Special Music

Special music was sung by the choir at both masses, and the silver theme with beautiful cut flowers decorated the chapel.

At noon, an anniversary dinner was served in the dining hall, the tables attractively appointed, in silver and white. Guests in addition to the jubilarians and their associates of the hospital staff, as well as visiting Sisters of St. Francis of Menominee, included the Most Rev. Bishop Plagens, the Very Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy, Rev. Fr. George Laforest of Vulcan, Rev. Fr. Francis Scheringer of Rapid River, Rev. Fr. Peter Bleeker of Holy Family parish and Rev. Fr. Paquet.

The program of the afternoon included a program of motion pictures, and other diversions, and an early evening presentation of motion pictures last evening, following the supper hour, closed events of the jubilee day.

At Mother House

A later observance of the anniversary is to be held at the Mother House in Peoria, for all Sisters of the Order observing their silver jubilee, following the annual retreat to be held in June.

The jubilarians were presented with many beautiful and appropriate gifts in remembrance of the anniversary.

Attractive Tea Marks Golf Club Season's Opening

Golf and bridge, followed by an attractively appointed tea marked the opening of the season at the Escanaba Golf club Wednesday afternoon.

The golf matches and bridge opened at 1:30 o'clock, and the tea at 3:30 o'clock was followed by drawing for the Golf League matches and registration for the bridge tournament which will be regular features of the activities program for the summer.

Mrs. C. J. Burns had high bridge score for the afternoon. In golf Mrs. Wolford Petersen had low score and Mrs. J. F. Card, high; Mrs. W. A. LeMire, low putts and Mrs. Ralph Dickie, high; and Mrs. Harry Needham was low on Number Six and Mrs. L. L. Farrell, high.

Mrs. L. L. Farrell, Mrs. H. Belanger and Mrs. Harry McPherson were awarded free rounds with Cotton Leonard, club pro, and they will meet with him at the club house this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. S. M. Tart was chosen captain of the Blacks and Mrs. Otto Hult, captain of the Whites, for the golf team tournament.

Spring flowers in an effective arrangement centered the appointments for the tea, and seasonal flowers were used throughout the club house in an attractive decorative scheme. Mrs. William L. Kennedy and Mrs. A. C. Peterson of Gladstone poured.

Mrs. G. R. Stegath was chairman of the opening event, assisted by Mrs. O. V. Thatcher, Mrs. Frank Andrew, Mrs. A. C. Peterson and Mrs. James E. Frost.

Legion Opening Annual Sale of Poppies Today

The annual sale of the crimson poppies, memorials to those who gave their lives in America's service during the World war, will be conducted jointly by the American Legion, Cloverland Post, and the Legion Auxiliary, today and Saturday.

The Sons of the Legion also will assist in the annual sale, meeting at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at the Legion club rooms, Ludington street.

The poppies will be sold in the downtown business district during the two days, for whatever the buyer wishes to give to the cause for which the annual sale is held.

The poppies which will be worn today and Saturday, are not of course natural flowers from the World war battlefields, but are flowers which have even greater significance. They have been "grown" in hospitals and workrooms where the war's suffering is still going on and they have bloomed under the hands of men disabled in the war, the comrades of those in whose honor they will be worn.

Proceeds of the sale go entirely to the child welfare and rehabilitation programs of the department as well as for welfare work in the sponsoring communities.

Poppy Days Will Be Held Here On Friday, Saturday

The American Legion and Legion Auxiliary will conduct their annual Poppy Day sales today and Saturday in Manistique. The sale will be conducted in the industrial plants today and in the business district Saturday.

The poppy comes to America from the fields of France and Belgium where the churning tide of war obliterated all touches of beauty except its brave red blooms. It comes from the shell pitted battle areas and from among the wooden crosses of the war cemeteries.

The poppies which are worn on Poppy Day are not, of course, natural flowers from the World War battlefields. They are flowers which have been grown in hospitals and workrooms where the war's suffering is still going on. They have bloomed under the hands of men disabled in the war. The veterans in the hospital at Battle Creek and the Michigan Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids have made 1,000,000 poppies for the annual sale.

The sale will be conducted by the members of the Auxiliary, assisted by Boy Scouts of the Legion troop.

PAST MASTERS ARE HONORED

Masonic Lodge Also Has Observance of 50th Anniversary

Highly impressive ceremonies marked the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Gladstone Lodge No. 396, F. & A. M., and Past Masters' Night held Wednesday evening at the Masonic hall.

Over 100 persons, including delegations from Escanaba, Ishpeming, Manistique and other cities were in attendance. A delicious banquet was served by the Order of Eastern Star.

A. D. Alguire presided as toastmaster and called first on D. T. Collins of Hibbing, Minn., son of Joseph N. Collins, first past master of the local lodge, who gave some interesting recollections of his father.

William L. Marble, whose father was a charter member, and C. A. Clark, Gladstone pioneer, who has been identified with Masonry for a long period of time, spoke briefly.

Visiting Past Masters and Masons were then introduced and then the roster of Gladstone Past Masters was read. As the name of each deceased Past Master was read, a candle was lighted in his memory and was left burning throughout the banquet. At the close of the program, the quartet sang "Abide With Me" and the candles were extinguished.

Stephen Collick, of Ishpeming, was the guest speaker of the evening and he used as his theme, "Direction." Drawing upon his past experiences and a wide range of reading, Mr. Collick presented an interesting comparison between Masonry and the principles of life.

Past Master Aino Karjala received the Past Master's jewel in ring form, the presentation being made by Past Master Cecil Jones.

In addition to selections by the Masonic quartet, composed of Noble Swenson, William Nelson, Ollie Nelson and C. C. Strickland, there were piano solos by Freeman Empson and instrumental numbers by Wallace Cameron.

WILL OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Legion Post Makes Plans for Ceremonies At Isle

August Mattson Post, American Legion, is again making plans for observance of Memorial Day.

Plans were discussed at a regular meeting of the post Monday night. During the evening Gene Noblet, Jr., delivered the declamation "International Racketeer" which won for him the honor of representing Gladstone high school in the district contest, and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

A. D. Alguire, adjutant and welfare officer of the Upper Peninsula Association of Legion Posts, will be the speaker at Memorial Day exercises which this year are to be held on Memorial Isle in the park. A public address system is to be installed so that all may hear the talk in its entirety.

Silver coated crosses are to be erected on the island for each dead Gladstone veteran of the Civil, Spanish and World wars and of the regular army. The name of each veteran will be placed upon the cross and during the observance a group of little girls will place poppies on the crosses. There will be selections by the Gladstone high school mixed chorus.

A parade at 10 o'clock will precede the ceremonies at Memorial Isle. In the line of march will be the high school band, the Legionnaires and ex-service men, Boy Scouts and Sons of the Legion.

At the conclusion of the island rites, Legionnaires will go to Fernwood cemetery where the flag will be raised from half-mast and a salute will be fired over the Legion burial plot by a firing squad.

Next Monday night, veterans are requested by Commander Gale Wescott to meet at the Legion hall to go to Fernwood cemetery to prepare and beautify the Legion burial plot. The detail will be in charge of Ernest DeHooghe and all going will gather first at the Legion hall at 6:45 p. m. Each will bring their own implements.

BEACHHOUSE TO BE COMPLETED

Work On Project Will Be Resumed By Crews Today

Work on Gladstone's new beach house will be resumed today, the start of a new work period, it was announced by City Manager A. F. Raddant.

Work on the project had been stopped a week ago Wednesday when funds ran out, but Manager Raddant has received notice that a request for an additional allotment amounting to $4,922 has been approved.

Thus far, $12,922 in federal money and $4,300 contributed by the city as the sponsor's share of the project has been expended.

Construction is well along and Manager Raddant declares that the beach house will be ready for use by the time the bathing season opens.

Among the work remaining to be done is the construction of concrete partitions in the west part of the building, laying of sewers and landscaping of the property.

Mrs. Violet LaLande spent yesterday at Osier.

First flight covers from several experimental airmail flights now in progress have been received recently by several local philatelists.

One is the Philadelphia to Pittsburg hop, the other the Pittsburgh, Huntington and Charleston flight. Second flights over the same routes are to be made at later dates.

Special cachets were prepared at the mailing points and were placed upon each of the first flight covers.

Four District Track Meets To Be Held Saturday

Jam Dam Drops From Delta-Menominee Loop

The 10 team Delta-Menominee baseball league dropped to a nine team affair with the announcement by League Commissioner Charles Johnston that Jam Dam had dropped.

The league will remain at nine teams, with each team having a bye on the Sunday it was scheduled to play Jam Dam.

The second round of the schedule will be played Sunday with games at Bark River, Trenary, Cooks and Rock. Rapid River, scheduled to play at Jam Dam, will remain idle.

Perkins will risk its first place tie with Rapid River in traveling to Bark River. The latter team was inactive last week and nothing is known of its strength. However, both teams have been active rivals in the past three years and it is likely that there will be much action.

Ford River, which played a 10 inning tie last week, will try to get into the win column at the expense of Trenary on the latter's diamond. Trenary lost the opening game at Rapid River but has a powerful crew and is expected to cause Ford River plenty of trouble.

Perronville, Ford River's opponent last week, will travel to Cooks. This team will find two new entries in the league meeting for the first time. Cooks was rained out in its game with Garden last week.

Garden, another new entry, will travel to Rock in the final game of the day. Rock, whose strong teams of the past two years have been almost completely wrecked, is not expected to be much of a power in the league this year, laying grounds for rebuilding. Until tested in Sunday's game, little will be known of Garden's calibre.

MUCH INTEREST IN PENINSULA

Regional At Houghton Next Week; Relays Here On May 30

Track, a sport which heretofore had been carried out in a half hearted manner in most schools, this year has become a full fledged spring sport among Upper Peninsula high schools and is bringing out an unprecedented number of athletes.

Until 1938, there was little organized effort in the promotion of track in Upper Peninsula schools, the Invitational at Iron Mountain, the Regional at Houghton and the Relay Carnival at Escanaba being the principal established meets. Last year, however, under the supervision of the Michigan High School Athletic association, a definite program was formulated with the peninsula divided into four sections. Each section has a district meet on the same day and qualifiers from those meet are eligible to participate in the regional at Houghton. As a result of the stabilizing of dates, many schools have arranged dual and other informal meets among themselves before the district.

This year, the district meets will be held at Iron Mountain, Negaunee, Ironwood and Houghton on Saturday of this week. Those qualifying will compete in the regional at Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton on May 27. The finale of the peninsula track season will be Memorial Day when the annual Relay Carnival will be held at Escanaba.

Eskymos Strong

On the basis of performances in preliminary meets held thus far, it appears that Iron Mountain, Escanaba and Ironwood are the teams to be watched in the regional this year. These three teams have shown much power and appear to be well balanced. Negaunee, Marquette, Calumet, Houghton, Wakefield and Bessemer also have several likely looking prospects.

Iron Mountain is led by Gerald "Kootchie" Nelson, basketball hero and top notch half miler; Steve Faccin, Grant Franson, Frank Ladwig and Eldon Shoquist.

Escanaba is especially well set in the pole vault with four boys who have been topping 11 feet consistently, in the shot put and middle distances.

Ebli, a shot putter, and Kuker and Martorelli, dashmen, will be the big guns in the Ironwood picture along with Moore, a miler.

Ray Austin, crack hurdler, leads a well balanced Negaunee squad onto the field this year. His records for the hurdle events are the fastest in the district.

Calumet Has Miler

Coach Al Kircher's Graveraets of Marquette will feature Pantalone and Jepson, dash men, and Mikulich and Culver, jumpers.

In Calumet, Henry Lahti, a miler who finished second in the regional last year, appears the cream of the crop. Bob Opland, an ace gridder in the fall, will double in the dash and broad jump.

Menominee will pin its hopes on Engeldinger, vaulter; Crawford, dashman and hurdler; and Grassel, half miler.

Soo offers Levi, a crack half miler, while Hoholik, a hurdler, leads Manistique.

Millbrant of Kingsford looks good in the hurdles and Sloden of Iron River steps the dashes in flat time. Heim of Iron River, star cager, is a threat in the pole vault.

Wakefield has three good vaulters, low hurdlers in Maki and Lepisto and a high jumper in Wedenoja while Bessemer will feature Lesky in the dashes and Gossen and Lustig in the hurdles.

First Inning Blows Beat Bees, 3 and 2; Macfayden Yanked

Cincinnati, May 18 (AP)—Ival Goodman's single and successive first-inning homers by Frank McCormick and Ernie Lombardi gave Cincinnati a 3 to 2 victory and the sereies-of-three over Boston today.

The Red four-hit attack, with a ladies' day crowd of 15,443 in the stands, sent the usually "tough" Danny MacFayden to the showers after two outs. Thereafter, as Johnny Vander Meer spaced six hits, his mates were held to three by Relief Hurler John Lanning.

CUBAN'S HOMER BEATS DETROIT

Eistenstat's Pitch In 9th Breaks Up Ball Game and Senator's Win

Washington, May 18. (AP)—Arch McKain pitched the first eight innings for Detroit against Washington here today and held the Nats to four hits and one unearned run; Harry Eisenstat hurled the ninth, issued a walk, tossed a home run ball to Roberto Estalella, and lost the game, 3 to 2.

McKain engaged in a tight pitchers' duel with Alex Alexandra, whose Venezuelan name is Carrasquel. The two Detroit runs were the result of a misjudged fly ball, and the only Washington run off McKain followed an error by Charley Gehringer.

Pitching Brilliant

The Tigers entered the last of the ninth leading 2 to 1, and needing to hold the Nats scoreless to win the game. Eisenstat was sent in to pitch, and retired the first batter on a pop fly. He walked the next man, Buddy Myer. Charley Gelbert grounded to Higgins.

Then Estalella, Cuban left fielder of the Senators, stepped into one of Eisenstat's pitches for a home run to center, scoring Myer ahead of him, and breaking up the ball game.

The outcome wasted a fine eight-inning performance by McKain, but Alexandra, or Carrasquel, gave an equally brilliant exhibition. He limited the Tigers to four hits, walked three and fanned one.

A walk to Rudy York, opening the second, started the only scoring the Tigers could produce. Beau Bell, newly obtained from the St. Louis Browns, lifted a long fly to center which, misjudged, fell safely for a three-bagger, scoring York. Bell followed York home when Pinky Higgins rolled out to Myer.

Grounder Fumbled

The first Senator run came in the fifth inning, opened by catcher Angelo Giuliani's single. Alexandra and Giuliani both were safe when Gehringer fumbled a ground ball. George Case then laid down a sacrifice advancing the runners, and Giuliani scored on Buddy Lewis' sacrifice fly to Barney McCosky.

The victory gave the Senators two out of three in the series which opened Detroit's tour of the eastern circuit.

The Tigers move to Philadelphia tomorrow, with Schoolboy Rowe, recovered from a leg injury suffered while pinch-hitting, pitching for Detroit.

MONNETT MAY QUIT PRO GAME

Former Michigan Stater Assistant Engineer In Home Town

Green Bay, Wis., May 18.—There is a possibility that Bobby Monnett, one of the staunchest Packer backs, may not return to the fold this fall. The former Michigan State star has been appointed an assistant engineer on the Ohio highway commission and he is stationed at Bucyrus, his home town.

Monnett has played six years of football for Green Bay and is one of the best liked gridders to ever don a Packer uniform. Bobby was a great team worker and Coach E. L. Lambeau is pulling every string possible to induce Monnett to change his mind and get back into togs this fall.

CURLY AT MARINETTE

Green Bay, Wis., May 18.—Coach E. L. Lambeau has two football speaking engagements for next week. Monday, May 22 he will talk before the Lions club at Appleton, Wis., and the following Thursday, he will speak at an Elks party in Marinette, Wis.

At the Marinette gathering, the Green Bay coach will be introduced by Mayor Richard (Jab) Murray, who in the early days of the Packers played many a good game at end, tackle or center for Lambeau.

Muffed Throw Lets In Winning Run; Athletics Win, 4-3

Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—Rollie Hemsley's muff of James Shilling's throw to the plate allowed Skeeter Newsome to score the winning run today to give the Athletics a 4 to 3 victory over Cleveland in 11 innings. The triumph ended a Mack streak of five losses.

The bases were filled with one out in the 11th when Bob Johnson shot a grounder to Shilling. The second baseman made an accurate throw home in time to force newsome at the plate, but he was safe on the muff.

Football Training Table Is Adopted By Michigan State

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 18 (AP)—Ralph Young, Michigan State college athletic director, said today that State likely will adopt the football training table approved by the Western conference.

Young, here to confer with Big Ten athletic officials assembled for the conference track meet this week-end, said he expected State to follow the loop's plan of serving football players their evening meal during the season.

Five seconds is the length of the average dream.

TEN TEAMS AT IRON MOUNTAIN

District Track Meet To Be Held Saturday Afternoon

Iron Mountain, May 18—Ten high schools have entered squads in the annual district track and field meet to be held at the stadium here Saturday and Bruce Guild, Iron Mountain principal and tournament manager, said that the list may be extended by receipt of entries filed before the deadline last night and still in the mail today.

Schools from which entries had been received at noon today were:

Class B: Kingsford, Manistique and Iron Mountain;

Class C: Harris, Hermansville, Stephenson and Channing;

Class D: Alpha, Nahma and Rock.

Entries were expected from Menominee, class B, St. Joseph of Escanaba, class C, and possibly one or two other schools.

Doubt arose that Iron River would compete here when no entry had been received today and there was an unofficial report that Coach James Crummey would take his Redskin thinclads to the district meet at Houghton. Schools are permitted to enter any of four district meets—here, at Houghton, Ishpeming or Ironwood—that they choose. Escanaba, it is understood, will participate at Ishpeming this year. In past years Escanaba has been the principal competitor of Iron Mountain.

Classy Field Assured

Decision of Iron River to pass up the Iron Mountain meet would be a disappointment to fans eager to see Eddie Sloden, Redskin sprinter who has tied the state class B 100-yard dash mark of 10.2 seconds. Besides his record-equalling century, Sloden won the 220-yard dash for a double victory in last Saturday's Mountaineer invitational tourney.

However, regardless of Iron River's choice of meets, a high class field of athletes will vie for individual and team districts titles here. Iron Mountain, defending upper peninsula champion, has another well-balanced squad which will be a threat to retain its honors. Manistique and Menominee are expected to show several speedy runners. Kingsford has probably the best hurdler in the peninsula in Donald Milbrandt who won both timber-topping events in the invitational, bettering the regional mark in skimming over the low hurdles in 24.5 seconds.

Channing and Hermansville have strong class C squads with Channing ranking as favorite to cop the class championship. Nahma, defending class D district champion, reportedly again has another strong team.

Elimination heats of the district meet will get under way at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, with the finals beginning at 1 p. m. The track is being groomed and is expected to be firm and fast.

Walk Hands 5 to 4 Verdict To Gophers Over Michigan Nine

An Arbor, Mich., May 18 (AP)—Minnesota dumped Michigan's baseball team into fifth place in the Big Ten baseball race with a 5 to 4 victory in the first of a two game series here today.

The Gophers had the game handed them in the fifth inning when Dan Smick walked Shortstop George Sweeney with the bases loaded to force in George Boerner with the winning run. The pass was one of nine issued by Smick.

A misjudged fly ball gave Frank Knox, Gopher second baseman, a home run in the second, scoring Pitcher Stan Sowa ahead of him. The Wolverines lost a chance to tie the score in the seventh when Mike Sofiak was caught between third base and the plate when he and Walter Peckinpaugh attempted a double steal with one out.

Triple By Cronin Gives Red Sox 5-3 Win Over Chicago

Boston, May 18 (AP)—Manager Joe Cronin's booming triple with two on base was the deciding factor today when his Boston Red Sox took the odd game from the Chicago White Sox, 5-3. That pilot's mighty blow was struck in the seventh and he tallied his club's final counter after Jim Tabor singled.

The Red Sockers provided Starter Elden Auker with 11 hits, all against Righthander Johnny Whitehead, before Auker was carried off the field in the eighth, after Luke Appling smashed a single against his right foot. Joe Heving then went in to finish the game and he was accompanied into action by Leo Nonnenkamp, who took over Rookie Ted Williams' right field berth.

Escanaba To Entertain Twins Here On Sunday

The three-way Crystal Falls-Niagara-South Range tie for first place in the Northern Wisconsin Michigan league will be broken for certain Sunday.

Sunday's engagements send Crystal Falls to Niagara, the Ford Twins to Escanaba and South Range to Negaunee.

When all of those battles are out of the way, fans should have a pretty good idea of the trend of the first half race.

Barring an unforeseen upset the Badgers might encounter Sunday's Niagara-Crystal Falls scrap will roll around as the season's first "crucial" game, possibly the fork in the pennant road for one of the clubs. One of the teams is bound to be shunted onto a detour at least.

Mound Duel Promised

Crystal Falls, with Hugh Orphan pitching 18 innings of great ball and striking out 31 batsmen, has maintained an unmarred record by virtue of many victories over Negaunee and Escanaba. Niagara, with Cedric Richardson serving up impressive hurling, beat the rejuvenated and dangerous Ford Twins in its only encounter to date.

Orphan and Richardson, rivals for designation as the N. W. M. league's No. 1 pitcher, are almost certain to oppose each other, and to be backed up by smoothly functioning lineups unchanged from those of past conquests.

Niagara, determined to sweep through the first half and guarantee at least a playoff is in defense of its league title is expected to use Richardson. Richardson, a trifle wild but othewrise effective in his former start, was described as in splendid condition.

Fords Set For Escanaba

Meanwhile Jimmie Manci, who has welded a Ford Twins lineup which is potent from top to bottom, is preparing his charges for the week-end's invasion of Escanaba. The Eskymos were edged in their opener by South Range and fell 8-4 at Crystal Falls last Sunday, but back on their home lot they may show a reversal of form.

Manci plans to have his crew at full strength, including the newest additions, Johnny Stemig at shortstop and "Tape" Becker in the outfield. Becker, whose home is in Green Bay, will come here to join the Twins for each game, Manci said.

Tony Gober, for the Twins, and probably "Fireball Phil" Brazeau, for Escanaba will be Sunday's pitchers.

South Range, with a 1.000 per cent 1-0 record, will be favored to chalk up its second victory at

Meanwhile, no date has been announced for making up the rained-out South Range-Ford Twins game.

GABBY BREAKS UP BALL GAME

Double With Bases Full and 2 Out Produces 4-2 Cub Triumph

Chicago, May 18 (AP)—Gabby Hartnett, an expert at breaking up ball games, doubled with the bases loaded and two out in the sixth inning today to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 4 to 2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hartnett's blow was the second of four hits the Cubs got in their big inning and brought home all three runners. He himself charged home on the next play as Glen Russell singled into left field.

Each team obtained seven hits, but Big Bill Lee kept his offerings well scattered to go the route and get his fifth victory against three defeats.

Davis Holds Giants To Seven Hits And Cards Take Tilt, 6-1

St. Louis, May 18. (AP)—Curt Davis, the Cardinals' veteran right-hander crimped the New York Giants on seven scattered hits today to give St. Louis the deciding test of their three game series, 6 to 1.

It was Davis' fifth victory out of seven decisions and he made it look easy, getting into trouble only in the third when a single, an infield out and Alex Kampouris' double scored a New York run.

The Cardinals nipped at the offerings of rookie Manny Salvo until he was forced into retirement in the fourth to be followed in succession by Walter Brown, Jim Lynn and Clydell Castleman.

The victory kept the Cardinals in first place in the National league and dropped New York to seventh.

ROBERT MOLL IN HALF MILE

Competes for Lawrence In Midwest Meet At Coe College

Appleton, Wis., May 18—Ten trackmen, four golfers, and three tennis players of Lawrence college will leave Friday morning for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where they will enter the annual Midwest Conference championships in these events to be held at Coe college on Saturday.

The track team, led by Captain Joe Graf of Wauwatosa, will be out to defend the title won last year by one of the largest scores in the history of the event, but their chances of doing so appear slim. Graf, who holds the Lawrence 100 yard dash record of 9.7 should win that event for the third straight year and also the 220, but the squad lacks the balance of the group that scored so easily last year. Ken Osborn of Palatine, Illinois, took first place in the javelin last year and has thrown the spear within one foot of the conference record and Jack Crawford of Berlin, though sluggish thus far, is capable of being up with the best in the high jump. A sophomore, James Orwig, St. Louis, should place in the pole and Joe Maertweiler of Milwaukee in the shot put. Although Coach A. C. Denny will carry good quarter milers in Kenneth Buesing, Appleton; Glen Lockery of Rosholt; Walley Cape of Appleton; and Willard Beck of Milwaukee; there is always a large field in this event and points are never certain. However, a fair mile relay team is available composed of the quartet. Robert Moll of Escanaba, Michigan, is the lone half mile hope.

John Schmerein of Neenah, present Midwest Conference ten is champion, will again attempt to retain that title for Lawrence, while Harry Jackson of Wauwatosa, and Edward Chambers of Fond du Lac will be entered in the doubles.

Stanley Zwergel of Edgerton; Arthur Kaemmer of Kiel; James Whitford of Marinette; and either William Masterson of Stevens Point or Richard Lewis of Racine will make up the golf squad.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, May 18 (AP)—Steel shares, hard hit by a burst of selling, cut short a mild market rally today, but other issues generally recovered from their worst positions to end the day with fractional gains.

For a time in the forenoon, some securiites were as much as two points higher than their previous close. The rate of trading was slow, but such orders as there were nudged prices slowly upward.

Then, in the fourth hour, steels suddenly cracked and other shares reacted in sympathy, but they did not slip as far as U. S. Steel which hit new 1939 lows in both common and preferred at 43¾ and 101 respectively.

In the last few minutes of the day, the trend was mixed, but buying orders at the close brought the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up .2 of a point at 44.7. Transfers totalled 418,280 shares compared with 534,470 yesterday.

Wall Street observers attributed "Big Steel's" sudden decline to reports that the automobile industry did much of its third quarter buying last week at bargain prices—leading to the belief that the manufacturing of the early 1940 models would not be reflected in increased earnings by the steel companies.

The momentary decline in other stocks was believed caused mainly by profit-taking, and when these sales were absorbed, the market turned mildly upward again.

Neither from Europe nor Washington was there any news of much market significance. The question of peace abroad remained a diplomatic enigma and American tax revision appeared a matter of conjecture.

Interest was attached to what President Roosevelt might tell a business conference next Monday.

U. S. treasury bonds went to new highs again and corporate loans were slightly improved. Commodities were uneven. Wheat at Chicago was 3-8 cent to 1¼ cents a bushel higher and corn was unchanged to ¼ up. Cotton closed 55 cents a bushel up to 15 down. American stocks were higher in London, but the Paris and Amsterdam bourses were closed for Ascension Day.

Edging ahead in the curb were Lockheed, Lake Shore, Creole Petroleum and Wright Hargreaves. Electric Bond & Share and American Cyanamid "B" dipped fractionally. Turnover of 68,000 shares compared with 82,000 Wednesday.

Garden News

Garden, Mich.—The Puffy Creek school, which had been attended by Allen Adams, while his parents lived in that vicinity, was closed Tuesday afternoon and the teacher, Vernon Winter, and all the pupils attended the funeral, which was held at Kate's Bay where the family is now residing.

Word has been received here that Mrs. Russe Deloria, who with her husband, lived here many, is seriously ill at her home in Detroit. Her daughter, Mrs. Hector Barney of Grand Marais, has been called there. After her arrival, Mr. Deloria fell and fractured his skull and is confined in a hospital with concussion of the brain.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank each and everyone of our neighbors and friends who helped in so many ways at the sudden and tragic death of our beloved son and brother, Allen. For kindnesses in the home, for beautiful floral tributes, for cars willingly loaned, for services rendered by the boy pallbearers, and gifts generously given, we are deeply grateful and appreciative.

Signed:
Mrs. James Adams and family

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, May 18 (AP)—Wheat futures contracts representing the 1939 crop, July and September, staged a strong rally today on reports of unfavorable growing conditions in both the winter and spring wheat belts, wiping out early losses of as much as 5-8 cent and substituting gains of about a cent at times.

The rally, which got under way during the first hour, carried these deliveries up to 74 3-8 and 74 1-8, or about 1½ cents above early lows. Closing prices were 3-8 to 7-8 higher than yesterday, July 74 1-8 to 74¼, September 74 to 73 7-8.

May wheat fluctuated rapidly over a range of 2 1-8 cents, rising as high as 79 3-8 and closing at 79 to 79 1-8, or 1 to 1¼ higher than yesterday. The tight situation in the old crop contracts showed no signs of being relieved although cash wheat was quoted ½ cent higher to 1 cent lower, with the basis 1 to 2 lower. Premiums for cash wheat have been lowered recently but contracts involving approximately 5,000,000 bushels remain to be settled before the end of the month. Monday will be the last trading day.

Corn closed unchanged to ¼ higher compared with yesterday, July 51 1-8 to 51, September 51 5-8; oats ¼ to 7-8 higher; rye 1 5-8 to 2 higher; lard unchanged to 5 higher.

Early wheat price declines reflected reports of overnight rains in the southwest, particularly in Oklahoma.

The official forecast predicted fair and warmer weather for much of the grain belt.

Strength in rye, with prices at new highs for the season, was due largely to unfavorable crop prospects. Northwest reports said rye is heading on unusually short straw.

Corn values dipped slightly at times but were steady most of the session. Unusually heavy shipping sales, with 290,000 bushels sold mostly to Buffalo, were offset by good bookings of corn to arrive, the total being 106,000 bushels. Short covering in May oats strengthened that market.

Lard was steadied by strength in hogs and grains.

New York, May 18 (AP)—United States government issues continued to climb in today's bond market, with many maturities selling at the highest levels in the nation's history.

Altogether there were 495 individual issues, both domestic and foreign, traded during the day, and of this number, 193 closed higher and 162 lower, with the remainder unchanged.

Among foreigns, slightly improved were German 7s of '49 at 22, Milan 6½s at 44¾, and Polish 8s at 47½, While Italian 7s at 58¾ were a little lower.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

THE HISTORY OF THE BUDDY POPPY

Indisputable evidence is available to prove that the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States was the first veteran organization to promote a nationally organized campaign for the annual distribution of poppies made by disabled and needy veterans.

"Ever since, other organizations have taken up the sale of poppies, we have urged and worked for cooperation and harmony in spite of oppositions, rebuffs, and misstatements that have been used to discredit our rights, our methods and our purposes," declares a statement issued by Adjutant General R. B. Handy, Jr., from National Hearquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

In October, 1922, following the first nation-wide sale of poppies as conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars during the month of May of that year, the fourth national convention of the American Legion held at New Orleans, La., in October, adopted the following resolution which is taken from a printed summary of the proceedings:

"Resolved, that the poppy is hereby declared to be the official Legion flower instead of the daisy, which was adopted by the 1921 convention of the American Legion."

This indicates clearly that the daisy was adopted by the American Legion in 1921 and that following the successful poppy sale conducted by the V. F. W. in 1922, the American Legion realized the financial possibilities of the poppy movement. In the spring of 1923, following the New Orleans encampment and one year after the first poppy sale of the V. F. W., on a nation-wide scale, the American Legion conducted its first poppy sale, using poppies supplied by a French manufacturer as shown in the report of the National Adjutant for the year ending October 15, 1923.

Despite the propaganda and unfounded charges directed at the annual sale of the Buddy Poppies by the V. F. W., the fact remains that the poppies sold by our organization have been made by the disabled veterans in government hospitals. From the very beginning, the Buddy Poppy movement of the V. F. W. has received the endorsement and cooperation of the Director of the United States Veterans Bureau and the medical officers in charge of the government hospitals.

Chairman Buddy Poppy

ROB'T GESSNER TO COME HERE

Former Escanaban Will Conduct Courses At Nahma School

Nahma, Mich.—Robert Gessner, author of "Massacre," "Some of My Best Friends Are Jews" and other literary works, will return to his home city, Escanaba, this summer and will conduct courses in scenario and short story writing at the Nahma vacation school, August 13 to 26.

Robert Gessner

Mr. Gessner was born in Escanaba in 1907, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gessner. The author was educated at the Escanaba high school and the University of Michigan, from which he was graduated magnum cum laude and with special honors in English. Later, he received his master of arts degree from Columbia university.

He traveled over 13,000 miles to various reservations to collect material for "Massacre," a survey of economic and social conditions among the American Indians, which when published in 1931 resulted in a congressional investigation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The author was called to Hollywood to write the scenario of the same name, in which Richard Barthelmes and Ann Dvorak played the leading roles. Incidentally, a small tribe of Indians live just outside of Nahma, the model village owned by the Bay de Noquet Lumber company, which is sponsoring the "backwoods college" project.

Then, a tour through Europe and the Near East gave Mr. Gessner the inspiration for the book, "Some of My Best Friends Are Jews," which called the turn on the anti-Semitic progroms that later developed in Germany and elsewhere.

Mr. Gessner has been instructor of English at New York University the past several years, but he took a leave of absence last year and moved to Lebanon, N. J., to devote full time to his new novel, "Not Born to Die," to be published soon.

Mr. Gessner was married on May 27, 1938, to Mis Doris Lindeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Lindeman of High Bridge, N. J. Mr. Lindeman is professor of social philosophy at the New York School of Social Work.

Courses to be offered to the public at the Nahma Vacation school include: the novel, short story, scenario and radio script writing, poetry, drama, painting, radio speech, nature photography and photo journalism, and writing for the outdoor magazines and the pulps.

Writers and artists will find plenty of color at Nahma, where real lumberjacks still work in the woods camps and sawmill. There is an abundance of natural scenery. The village is located on the shores of Big Bay de Noquet and at the edge of the Hiawatha National Forest. The company has built a scenic nine-hole golf course, community building, hotel and a cluster of rustic cottages. Good trout, bass, perch and pike fishing is afforded in nearby lakes and streams.

Thomas and James Thorrington have returned from Flint after accompanying their mother, Mrs. James Thorrington Sr., to that city where she will remain for several weeks to receive special medical treatment.

Jack Stevens, Works Progress Administration Engineer for this area, was in town Saturday.

William Tornovish has returned home after being away during the winter months.

Mother's Day services were held Sunday evening in the Community Church. Rev. Carpenter spoke on the subject of Mother and the choir sang the anthem "My Own Dear Mother". The church was decorated with many beautiful flowers and plants. There will be no regular meetings in the church next Sunday of either Epworth League or regular service, being taken up to go to the school for the baccalaureate address.

"Cully" Engstrom Improved; Hurt In Diamondball Tilt

The condition of Carl E. "Cully" Engstrom, popular athlete who resides at 515 South 15th street, was reported as improved at the St. Francis hospital yesterday.

Engstrom was injured in a diamondball game Wednesday night when he collided with Robert "Moose" Smithwick when they were both chasing a foul ball, Engstrom's head striking Smithwick's shoulder. Engstrom was knocked unconscious and was rushed to the hospital where he regained consciousness yesterday morning. He was reported as "somewhat better" yesterday afternoon.

It is believed that Engstrom sustained a brain concussion or fractured skull. X-ray pictures will be taken today to determine the extent of his injuries.

GENE BEAUDOIN GIVEN LICENSE

Council Grants Right to Sell Beer for Drinking Off Premises

Eugene Beaudoin, 401 South Thirteenth street, was granted a special lesignated merchant's license, for the sale of beer and wine for consumption off the premises, at the meeting of the Escanaba city council last evening.

The Escanaba city council a few weeks ago denied Beaudoin a license for the sale of beer and wine on the premises as a result of complaints received from neighbors.

Charles Bonamer, 327 Stephenson avenue, was given a permit to provide phonograph music for dancing in his tavern, and the council also approved the transfer of a tavern license from Mrs. Rosanna LaFleur to Harry F. Tilbert, 1300 Ludington street.

Eleven residents on Lake Shore Drive presented a petition for stricter regulation of the public use of Ludington park and the yacht basin. They complained that last summer the park area was frequented by intoxicated persons, who disturbed the peace at all hours of the night. The matter was referred to the police department.

Ralph Benson was awarded the confectionery stand concession at the Ludington park yacht basin. He submitted a bid of $55 for the use of the concession stand for the season.

A request for the installation of a light in the alley between Ninth and Tenth streets and Second avenue north was deferred until the next meeting.

The council adopted a resolution, pledging fire protection to the Delta County Road Commission's property at Wells, subject to an agreement by the road commission that it would pay the regular rate for the service.

Endorsement of the proposed baseball field site on the city property near the Escanaba high school athletic field was contained in a letter received by the council from the managers of two Escanaba clubs in the Wisconsin-Michigan and Rainbow leagues. The city engineer was instructed to bring in estimates of the cost of constructing the field, for consideration at the next meeting.

ERECTION OF CAMP STARTS

Volunteers Needed to Reconstruct Hall At Scout Site

Volunteer workers will begin reconstruction of the mess hall at the Boy Scout camp Saturday. The mess hall at Camp Kentucky has been completely dismantled and half of it has been moved to the new campsite.

A total of 27 men have worked as volunteers on the project to date. The number of men from the various cities are: Munising 13; Escanaba 9; Manistique 3; and Rapid River 1. In addition to the men, 22 Senior Scouts fifteen years of age and over have helped about the campsite. A list of the volunteer workers who have worked previous to May 13 was published recently in the Press. The names of men who worked over the past week-end will be engraved upon a wall plaque to be placed in the Mess Hall at the Scout Camp. Newest members are: Clarence Zerbel, H. C. Webber, James Foote, H. Oas, J. V. Martin, Edw. Crojewski, Wm. Monson, Geo. Mahonson, Arthur Carlson, Howard McKie, and Phil Beauchamp.

The United States Dept. of Forestry is interested in aiding the development of recreational facilities in the National Forest. A new road from the Forestry Highway leading to the Scout camp will be under construction this summer. The entire camp grounds have been mapped and the arrangements of the buildings and campsites laid out in cooperation with members of the Forestry Department. A swimming and boating dock for recreational purposes will be built on the lake at the Scout camp during July.

Good Roads Soon

When the Forestry Highway is completed from Munising to the vicinity of Nahma Junction, traveling to the Scout camp will be over better roads and in less time. The use of rough roads will be almost completely eliminated.

The region is ideal for Scouting and a view of the area from a near-by fire tower will disclose over 20 lakes on a clear day. The camp is for the benefit of all the Scouts in Delta, Alger and Schoolcraft counties.

The work will continue each week-end until the work is completed. Persons interested in volunteering their services are asked to call Scout Leaders in their communities.

In some parts of England, school authorities have provided desks with inkwells specially placed for left-handed children.
